FARMER Members Care, Make A Difference

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — The political action committee of the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau held its 18th annual banquet program Monday at the Hershey Lodge and Convention Center.

The PFB political committee is called FARMER and it selects, endorses and supports farmer-friendly political candidates.

Following a meal, the event featured a special presentation of a certificate of appreciation to PFB President Guy Donaldson from Bill Werby, chairman of the state committee of the Pennsylvania office of the USDA Farm Service Agency, on behalf of the USDA, for the generous contributions made by members of PFB in the USDA Farm Service Agency's national drive to build stocks in food banks across the nation.

The contributions arranged through PFB made up the bulk of foods collected in Pennsylvania through a special U.S. Department of Agriculture program earlier this year.

Originally, the USDA food drive program was all inhouse and was unexpected, initiated just after the New Year.

That gave only about a month's time for the national agency to notify all the state agencies and for the state agencies to notify all the regional offices and employees, and then collect the food and distribute it.

Given the short notice of the food drive, most USDA employees at most state offices had little time to make allowances to donated food items for local food banks.

After the first deadline arrived, a second deadline was created, but as that began to close down to about a week away, USDA began contacting some state farm organizations to see if they could help out.

Calves in the pasture make grazers' thoughts turn to spring. With warm weather and plenty of moisture, pastures are now growing well in most parts of the Northeast. According to the Pennsylvania Agriculture Statistics Service, corn planting is approximately one week ahead of the average completed at this time. Wheat and barley look good, and oats are reported in good condition too. Current listed activities include planting small grains, spreading lime, plowing fields, harvesting and chopping ryelage, machinery maintenance, hauling manure, and caring for livestock.

The Nittany Farms, located along Route 322 near Penn State on the way to State College, always provide a picturesque setting. With the calves scattered out over the foreground as captured early one morning last week, it was impossible to drive by without taking this picture. Photo by Everett Newswanger, managing editor.

Land Preserved In Nick Of Time For Farm Viability

TOPTON (Berks Co.) — Noel and Elizabeth Schlegel were hard pressed to come up with enough land, literally, to be able to raise enough feed for their dairy herd and for land to spread manure on.

After all, they had 60 cows to milk and another 45 replacements to take care of.

And the new nutrient management law had Noel worried —

Noel and Elizabeth Schlegel have been farming the property since 1983 and purchased the property from Elizabeth's parents, Harry and Thelma Herbert, in 1986. A preservation ceremony was held Friday morning on their farm. The farm sign reads "Shaynah Kee," Dutch for "nice cows," said Noel. Photo by Andy Andrews

Penn State Poultry Club Holds Annual Meeting

JUDITH PATTON
Union Co. Correspondent

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — At the eighth Penn State Poultry Science Club banquet held May 1, John Hoffman, Pennsylvania Poultry Council's executive director, told students their biggest career challenges will be resolving environmental, food safety, and animal rightist's issues.

"You're paying the same price for chicken now as your great-great-grandmother did," Hoffman said. But he cautioned that to continue to have a self-subsidized U.S. agricultural economy these challenges must be met. Consumers now only pay nine percent of their disposable net income for food.

"The most serious challenge of your careers will be making high-density farm operations compatible with a safe and healthy environment," Hoffman said.

Because the Susquehanna River flows through the heart of Pennsylvania farm areas into the Cheasapeake Bay, farm nutrients and waste runoff is overly blamed for pollution in the bay. Some states

National Grain Market

St. Joseph, MO
Wed, May 06, 1998

USDA-MO Dept. Ag Market News DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Sharp advances again for grain and soybean bids as weather conditions and some fund buying on the board added support. Wheat 3 to 7 cents higher. Corn 3 to 6 cents higher. Sorghum 11 to 15 cents higher. Soybeans 5 to 8 cents higher. Dry conditions in parts of the US Plains and wet weather in the Eastern Corn Belt region continued to push wheat bids higher, today. An overnight export sale of US wheat to Taiwan was also a price booster. Corn bids jumped sharply higher due to continued planting delays in the Eastern Corn Belt. Wet weather delays have sparked concerns over the potential for lower yields. Additional strength was offered due to some fund buying on the Board. There are still no export announcements for corn this week. Sharp gains were seen in soybean bids in reaction to improved soybean meal and oil demand. Forecasts for drier conditions in the Eastern Corn Belt next week offered some support to bean bids as it cuts the risk of swing acres going to oilseeds. Continued lack of foreign trade for soy- beans, limited upturns.

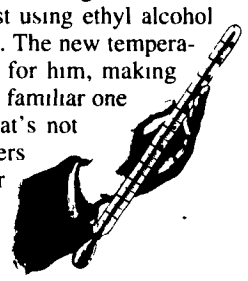
The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

MAY 11-17, 1998

FULL FLOWER MOON, MAY 11.

G. D. FAHRENHEIT

Happy birthday, G. D (that's Gabriel Daniel) Fahrenheit, born on May 14, 1686. This German physicist was born in Danzig and made great strides in improving the thermometer, first using ethyl alcohol and later, around 1714, mercury. The new temperature scale he devised is named for him, making his surname (if not his initials) a familiar one in virtually every household that's not using Celsius (named for Anders Celsius, but that's another story). Few of us realize that Mr Fahrenheit also improved the hydrometer and the hypsometer



It was so cold I almost got married.

– Shelley Winters

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Stop oven spills from smoking by sprinkling them with salt. Wipe clean after the oven cools.

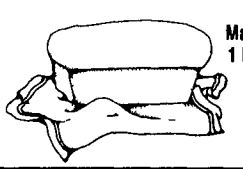
PUMPKIN BREAD

1 cup mashed cooked pumpkin
2/3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup scalded milk
1/2 yeast cake
1/2 cup lukewarm water
5 cups flour

Combine pumpkin with sugar, salt, shortening, and milk. In a small bowl, dissolve yeast in the lukewarm water. When pumpkin mixture has cooled to lukewarm, add dissolved yeast and flour. Knead well, cover, and let rise in a warm place overnight. In the morning, shape into a large loaf and bake at 375° F for 20 minutes Reduce heat to 350° F and bake another 40 minutes



Makes 1 loaf.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Three Chilly Saints (May 11, 12, 13) may bring frost.

Who shears his sheep before St. Gervatius' Day (May 13) loves more his wool than his sheep.

A wet May makes a big load of hay.

Warm and nice, but the lake's still like ice.

OPINION

Nuisance Lawsuits Addressed

The Pennsylvania House and Senate are working toward agreement on legislation to provide farmers with new protections against nuisance lawsuits. The Senate bill that would amend the state's right to farm law was sponsored by Sen. Noah Wenger (R-Lancaster).

The right to farm law ensures that a homeowner living near a farm cannot sue the farmer for causing noise related to the farming operation. Wenger's bill would extend similar protections to farmers who alter their farming practices to comply with the state's nutrient management law. This new statute requires farmers with livestock-intensive operations to establish plans for the use and disposal of nutrient-rich substances, such as soil inputs and animal waste.

All of us in agriculture know that a right to farm law is needed because many non-farmers move from urban or suburban areas to the country and are unprepared for the impact a nearby farming operation can have on their own property. As a result, they may file lawsuits that can interfere with the farming operation.

We believe the best way to limit nuisance lawsuits in this situation is for farmers to go out of their way to communicate with their urban neighbors about the needs of the farming operation and try to conduct the farming operation within a good-neighbor frame of reference. However, this does not always settle neighbor problems.

Therefore, we need the right to farm law to protect farmers while they go about their daily business of earning a living. And in this case, the new legislation also serves as an incentive for farmers to use good management practices by giving protection from nuisance suits to farms that update their operations.

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County Agricultural Agent

To Think Hay Quality

Hay crop forage (hay, haylage, pasture, etc.) is a major component of the dairy ration, according to Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County Extension Dairy Agent. With the first cutting of the season rapidly approaching, now is the time to think about hay quality and seasonal yield.

Consider the total ration for the dairy herd and the quality of hay needed for balancing the ration. Also, consider the quality of hay likely to be harvested the remainder of the season. These factors help to determine the optimum time to harvest the first cutting of hay.

To Plan First Cutting of Alfalfa

Glenn Shirk, Lancaster County Extension Dairy Agent, reminds us if you need longer length, high quality fiber, you may want to let the first cutting of alfalfa reach early bloom maturity before cutting. As the first cutting advances in maturity, protein levels and energy values will start declining, but the quality of the fiber will remain high and fiber yield will also increase.

Later cuttings may be cut at a younger stage of maturity for improved quality. The fiber from the first cutting is generally less lignified and more digestible than that produced during the hotter seasons of the year

If you need high quality (low fiber, higher protein, higher energy) hay or haylage, the first cutting may be harvested in the bud stage. This may mean halting corn planting temporarily. The early harvest may enable you to get an extra cutting per year. While the second cutting is growing, you may finish corn planting.

To Report New Hires

As of January 1, 1998, all Pennsylvania employers, including farmers and agricultural employers, are required to comply with the state's New Hire Reporting Program.

In order to comply with the program, employers must report to the Commonwealth certain information regarding every newly hired or rehired employee. The information will be used to maintain a registry of all employed persons within Pennsylvania to facilitate child support enforcement.

Information regarding the program was sent by the Commonwealth to over 250,000 employers prior to the Act taking effect. However, because farmers are exempt from many taxes and reports, most agricultural employers probably did not receive this information.

Any agricultural employer or farmer who did not receive an information packet, should request one by contacting the New Hire Program at 1-888-724-4737. The packet will provide a detailed explanation of what an employer must do in order to comply with the program. Penalties for violation of the program requirements range from a written warring to $500.

Editor:

"Ladies and gentlemen, your 1997-98 Berks County Dairy Princess, Erica Davis!" Ever since I was in first grade I have dreamed of being a dairy princess and wearing a crown on my head.

This past year has been a once in a lifetime, dream come true. When I was crowned last May, I promised myself I would try to make as many appearances as I could, for I had only one year to represent the industry I love. I also knew that I would have to surrender my personal schedule for those various opportunities that awaited me.

I would not give this past year up for the world. I had to learn time management to attend a promotion and still get my college homework finished. I think of all the memories I made, friendships I gained, and the poise and public speaker skills I acquired.

I remember going to a farm women group and playing a game with my uncle who only came because my aunt made him (we had fun). I recall the look of awe as a small child would point to my crown and ask, "Are those real diamonds?"

I will always be thankful for the support I received this past year from my family and friends. I knew I could go to them for advice.

This past year has been memorable and as I present the title of Berks County Dairy Princess to another deserving young lady on Saturday I will remind myself that this is not the end but only the beginning. I had my year to bask in the thrill of meeting dignitaries, having my picture in the paper, and receiving the starry-eyed stares from children. On Saturday these opportunities will be for

TRADITION!!!
May 10, 1998

Background Scripture:
Mark 7:1-23
Devotional Reading:
Ephesians 6:10-20

Do you remember that moment in The Fiddler on the Roof where Tevye sings his poignant song lamenting the gradual dissolution of his people's traditions. Thrusting his arm upward, he proudly proclaims "Tradition!!!" But as the story progresses, he watches as one tradition after another is superseded by the march of time.

Christians today are often in the same place. We struggle, often vainly, to maintain traditions. One of the big debates in Christianity at this time is whether the traditional services of worship will survive the electronic age.

If we as Christians are challenged and troubled by the threats to our traditions, we can perhaps understand how the Jews of Jesus' day reacted to him. In the four gospels Jesus often appears as the destroyer of tradition. "And the Pharisees and the scribes asked him. 'Why do your disciples not live according to the tradition of the elders, but eat with hands defiled?'" (Mark 7:5).

Actually, they were wrong about Jesus. He was not against tradition as such and, in fact, he kept most of the traditions in which he had been raised. Jesus recognized the value of traditions that linked them with their heritage and gave them a sense of identification as the people of God. In his teachings he often upheld those traditions: performing a healing he tells the healee to "go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as Moses commanded, for a proof to the people" (Luke 5:14).

LIPS, NOT HEARTS

When Jesus is challenged by the Pharisees and scribes on breaking the traditions, he indicates that the real problem is with them: "Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written, 'This people honors me with their lips, but their heart is far from me; in vain do they worship me, teaching as doctrines the precepts of men.' You leave the commandment of God and hold fast the tradition of men" (7:6-8).

Tradition can be harmful when it is misused for hypocritical purposes. They can be used as a means of honoring God with our lips, but not our hearts. The beauty of tradition is that it gives us a system, a framework within which to practice our religion. The tragedy of tradition is also that same system and framework when we forget that traditions are usually the creations of human minds. Even though those minds may be divinely inspired, we must not mistake that their shape is something we give to them. As Paul put it, "We have this treasure in earthen vessels" (II Co. 4:7). To mistake the earthen vessels for the treasure has been one of our most prevalent tragedies.

JUDGING OTHERS

The Pharisees and scribes attack Jesus, asking, "Why do your disciples not live according to the tradition . . . but eat with hands defiled?" (7:6). There was nothing wrong with the tradition of ceremonial handwashing before a meal. They did not know it at the time, but we know that it has considerable hygienic value. The problem was not in the handwashing, but in the use of it to judge other people. That is not an ancient concern, for we do very much the same thing today, rejecting other Christians because they do not keep the same conditions that we do.

Another objection of Jesus to traditions as practiced by the Pharisees and scribes: their man-made traditions often became a substitute for the commandment of God: "You leave the commandment of God and hold fast the tradition of men" (7:8). It is comparatively easier to live by a hundred religious traditions — good or bad — than adhere to the simple commandment of Jesus to "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind . . . (and) your neighbor as yourself" (Matthew 22:37-39).

Jesus said to the Pharisees and scribes words that I think he speaks to us today: "You have a fine way of rejecting the commandment of God, in order to keep your tradition!" (7:9). Does the shoe fit?

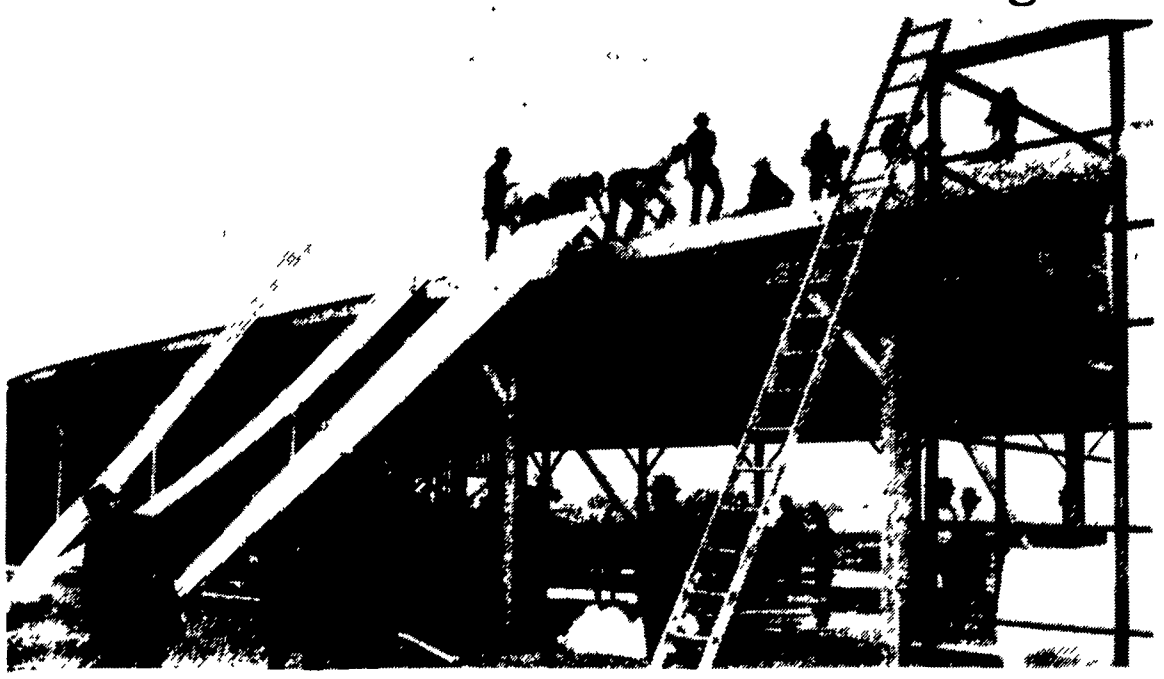
Produce Auction Has 'Barn-Raising'



TERRE HILL (Lancaster Co.) — On Tuesday, about 150 men helped raise trusses and hammer in struts during a "barn-raising" for the new Weaverland Produce Auction on Long Lane Road between Quarry and Martindale Road. According to Moses B. Sensenig, East Earl, president of the corporation, the auction is scheduled to open June 2. Work continued on the auction Wednesday morning with about 100 workers. More trusses were to arrive Thursday morning. Most of the outside structure of the building was to be completed by the end of this week. Photo by Andy Andrews

Act now! Or this may be the only pest control tool you'll ever use again!

How come?

Because the Environmental Protection Agency is reevaluating the pesticides you count on to run your farm, keep bugs out of your house and weeds out of your garden

Soon, you could begin to lose some of the most trusted insecticides on the market today

Why?

Because EPA isn't asking you--the farmer--or other Americans how you actually use these pest control products Without accurate input, the new Food Quality Protection Act cannot be fully and fairly implemented

So what?

So you lose many cost-effective pesticides--the tools you depend on most Fewer products lead to less IPM and less conservation tillage Pest resistance rises Yields drop Incomes fall And farm production moves offshore

So what?

So act now!

Because it's derived from fungicides found in certain wild mushrooms, new QUADRIS® fungicide has its roots firmly planted in nature. As a result, it carries less risk to workers and the environment than other currently registered fungicides.

Yet QUADRIS is merciless to a broad spectrum of tomato diseases. Its novel mode of action combines preventative and systemic powers to control early blight, late blight, anthracnose, Septoria leaf spot and other problems. All told, QUADRIS is the strongest and most unique disease prevention ever available.

Thanks for the idea, Mom.

Frederick, Catoctin Districts Celebrate Soil Stewardship

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — The political climate in Maryland surrounding soil and water conservation may be fast and furious right now, but some Frederick County farmers have been quietly shouldering the responsibility for stewardship of the county's resources for years. Members of the Frederick and Catoctin Soil Conservation districts gathered here recently to commemorate the week of April 26-May 3, designated as national Soil Conservation week.

"Soil conservation has been a big part of this county since back in the early '40s. In today's environment it's a whole lot different than it used to be, and we have to go on and do the best jobs we can do," suggested Jesse Burall, chairman of the Frederick Soil Conservation District. Mr. Burall addressed a group of about 30 gathered at Watson's restaurant in honor of Soil Conservation week.

Mark Hoke, chairman of the Frederick County board of commissioners, presented Mr. Burall and Mr. Daniel Poole, chairman of the Catoctin district, with a plaque recognizing the call to conservation stewardship. This year the theme for the week-long celebration is "Backyard Stewardship."

Nutrient management of course came to the forefront in legislation this year, and Rebecca MacLeod, district conservationist with the USDA, Natural Resources Conservation Service, updated the group on goals and timeframes for the newly enacted nutrient management bill.

Mark Hoke, center, chairman of the Frederick County Board of Commissioners, presented a plaque proclaiming the week of April 26-May 3 as Soil and Water Stewardship Week to Jesse Burall, right, chairman of the Frederick Soil Conservation District, and Daniel C. Poole, left, chairman of the Catoctin Soil Conservation District.

someone else to enjoy and I'll pack my crown and banner away, along with my scrapbook.

Bur . . . only the tangible things will be packaway because I'll always carry with me the memories, poise, public speaking skills, and the desire to promote the dairy industry, because "Once a dairy princess always a dairy princess!"

By December 31, 2001, an operation using commercial chemical fertilizer must have a Nitrogen and Phosphorous based plan, said MacLeod. The plan must be implemented by the same date one year later. If applying manure or sludge, you must have a Nitrogen based plan by the December 2001 date, implemented by 2002, and then a N&P based plan by July 1, 2004, that must be implemented by July 1, 2005. These requirements apply to ag operations that gross more than $2500 annually, or to livestock operations with 8 or more animal units, as defined by federal regulations. The bill also targets commercial applicators fertilizing 3 or more acres, specifying they must be a certified nutrient management consultant or work under a certified nutrient management consultant.

"One thing I believe will bring this nutrient management plan bill closer-to home is the definition of who is required to have a nutrient management plan," said MacLeod, "Eight or more animal units of livestock is going to be particularly interesting to the horse people. If we follow the federal guidelines that would be 4 horses or an income of $2500." Ms. MacLeod went on to explain that out of a total of about 220,000 acres of agricultural land in Frederick County, 68 percent of the acreage is currently covered under Nitrogen based nutrient management plans.

"As with other water quality issues, the soil conservation district stands ready to assist the farmers in complying with these regulations," MacLeod stressed.

In other soil conservation district news, she said there are a few new federal cost share programs to help with resource conservation management. Federal funds can be combined with state money for programs providing incentive payments. "These programs recognize that change in management is not always easy for a farmer who's used to doing things one way," according to MacLeod.

She noted that enrollment for the Environmental Quality Incentive Program, or EQIP, a federal cost-share progrm that can pay up to 87 percent for switching to rotational grazing, installing animal waste facilities, troughs, stream fencing, and cross fencing, runs through May 15.

After Fence Installation, FFA Members Witness Dramatic Improvements To Stream Bank Quality

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

RONKS (Lancaster Co.) — Before 1991, Pequea-Mill Creek Project leader Frank Lucas said he couldn't find anything in the farm stream that even resembled a fish.

Clair Witwer, ag science teacher at Pequea Valley High School, said that after rains, the stream was nothing but a mudhole.

Water quality was low. Water species simply didn't exist.

But, in April 1991, with the help of a $500 Chesapeake Bay Foundation grant, wooden posts kept by the project office, and help from staff and students at Lancaster Mennonite High School, noted Lucas, stream bank fencing was installed at the Jonas Beiler farm near Pond Road in Ronks.

Last week, it was evident that not only was the stream bank secured, but vegetation was in place. Pequea Valley FFA members were in wading gear, searching for signs of life.

Where once before all that could be found in the stream, with erosion from cow trampling, were leeches and some pollution-tolerant species, last week the FFA'ers discovered crayfish, shiners, salamanders, midge, blackfly, beetle, and cranefly larvae, snails, scuds, darters, and other aquatic life.

It's a sign that the stream has regained a lot of health in seven years.

"What the students are looking for and what they find in the stream will indicate the water quality," said Clair Witwer, who pointed out the more than dozen FFA members who came along to perform tests on the water.

"No doubt, some of the improvement is due to the fact that cows aren't tramping in the streams," noted Witwer. The cows are electrically fenced out into grazing paddocks.

The stream eventually feeds into the Muddy Creek, said Frank Lucas of the Pequea-Mill Creek Project office. The Muddy Creek eventually feeds into the Mill Creek, leading to the Conestoga River, and gradually to the Susquehanna River.

Clair Witwer, Pequea Valley FFA adviser and ag science instructor (in dark vest jacket), spoke about the improved nesting quality of the stream bank at the Beiler farm.

The area studied by the Pequea Valley FFA includes a corridor 137 feet long by 27 feet wide, said Witwer. They have been monitoring the site, near a cattle crossing built of rejected concrete hog slats, for about eight years, according to Matthew Ehrhart, Pennsylvania habitant restoration specialist.

In part of the fenced-in stream, there was nothing but bare soil and a pool of algae. Now a distinct channel runs through it with lots of vegetation — "directly due to fencing," said Witwer.

What landowners and producers should be aware of, in addition to improving the water quality on the farm, the fenced-in stream bank can improve overall herd health, reducing hoof problems and mastitis.

Two types of assessments were done by the Pequea Valley FFA members and ag science students: water quality and biotic index.

Water quality looked into the available oxygen content and other factors of the water. The biotic index looked into the aquatic species present.

The biotic index proved an abundance of life in the stream, including crayfish, sowbugs, salamanders, shiners, diving beetles, water boatman, beetle, midge, cranefly and blackfly larvae, scuds, snails, and darters.

Plant seedlings were also installed a few years ago by the FFA members to further improve quality of the stream bank.

Also, Witwer pointed out to the students that he saw a lot more muskrats and other nesting on the banks — signs of improved stream bank quality.

The stream at the Jonas Beiler farm near Ronks has been revitalized because of the fencing.

Land O'Lakes, Dairyman's Cooperative Creamery Move Toward Unification

ARDEN HILLS, Minn. — Members of the Land O'Lakes and Dairyman's Cooperative Creamery Assn. Boards of Directors have strongly endorsed and unanimously approved a plan for consolidating the two organizations. Next, the proposal will be presented to members of both organizations for their approval.

The two organizations have been business partners since 1983 when Dairyman's began producing butter for Land O'Lakes at its processing facility in Tulare, Calif.

"This is an exciting opportunity to build an even stronger nationwide organization committed to creating value-added markets for members and providing maximum returns to members," said Jack Gherty, president and chief executive officer of Land O'Lakes. "A merger would combine Land O'Lakes marketing strength with Dairyman's strength as the best, least-cost manufacturer in the West."

Jack Prince, president of Dairyman's said, "We have carefully considered ways by which we might provide greater, long-term value for our members through expanded product manufacturing and creation of a branded, value-added market for our milk. Our board and management strongly believe this merger will help us achieve those goals."

Both Gherty and Prince said the two cooperatives will provide members with comprehensive information on the proposed merger prior to approval in late May. If approved, it is expected the unification would be implemented July 1.

Land O'Lakes, headquartered in Arden Hills, Minn., is a food and agricultural cooperative owned by farmers and ranchers in 27 states. It markets branded dairy products across the U.S. Dairyman's, based in Tulare, Calif., is a dairy processing cooperative and operates the largest, single location dairy processing facility in the nation.

Land Preserved In Nick Of Time For Farm Viability

there wasn't enough land per animal unit to take care of manure generated on the farm.

So, in what Noel describes as the "nick of time," an opportunity presented itself: he could acquire more land, about another 88 acres nearby. So he did — and promptly placed all of his land under agricultural preservation.

On Friday morning at the Noel and Elizabeth Schlegel Farm in Longswamp Township, Topton, the Berks County Agricultural Land Preservation Board scheduled a celebration to commemorate 10,000 acres of preserved farmland in Berks County.

The celebration, under a tent erected in a hayfield on the Schlegel Farm, honored those who have also preserved their farms. Sam Hayes, Jr., state secretary of agriculture, was scheduled to speak at the commemoration.

The preservation board, along with the Berks County Board of Commissioners, invited the public to the celebration. The event, according to Susanne Sharadin, director of the Berks County Agricultural Land Preservation Board, honored those responsible for the creation and administration of the agricultural land preservation program and those landowners who have protected their farms.

A brass quartet from Kutztown University was scheduled to entertain those at the event. Also, light refreshments of coffees, teas, juices, milk, and sweets were served, according to Sharadin.

The Schlegels have been farming the property since 1983 and purchased the property from Elizabeth's parents, Harry and Thelma Herbert, in 1986. The farm, close to Topton, includes about 188 acres altogether. Of the 188 acres, 171 are in ag preservation. The Schlegels till about 230 acres, including rented ground.

Of the 230 tillable acres, 125 are in corn, 15 are in wheat, 50 are in alfalfa, 40 are in soybeans, and 33 acres are double-cropped in rye. The Schlegels milk 60 cows and care for another 45 replacements. They also have about 45 steers.

The Schlegels use a TMR from a commercial company.

On Friday morning at the Noel and Elizabeth Schlegel Farm in Longswamp Township, Topton, the Berks County Agricultural Land Preservation Board scheduled a celebration to commemorate 10,000 acres of preserved farmland in Berks County.

At the Topton farm, Noel said that he cares for the cropping and feeding programs at the dairy. Elizabeth, shown here, cares for the cows and keeps the records.

On Pa.DHIA, the herd average is 25,500 pounds of milk. Milking is from tiestall to pipeline twice a day, at 5 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. They sell the milk to Rosenberger Dairy in Hatfield.

The farm sign reads "Shaynah Kee," Dutch for "nice cows," said Noel. Some of the nice cows are pretty good producers, too — including "Carrot," a 3-year-old Holstein who milked 26,000 pounds as a 2-year-old. The highest on record is a 4-year-old, "Susie," who milks 35,322 pounds.

Importantly, the additional land purchased gives them a good land base for the number of animals and the manure produced, according to Schlegel.

Schlegel believes that, previously, they could have been getting into trouble, according to the state nutrient law, for not having enough land for the manure generated. Now, with the additional acres, "we feel we have a good land/animal/family operation," he said.

Also, additional land means more feed for the animals, enough so that the Schlegels shouldn't have to go elsewhere for feed.

The Schlegels maintain four upright silos, including a 20-foot by 80-foot for corn silage, a 20 by 70 for haylage, a 20 by 40 for high moisture corn, and a 16 by 50 for rye, haylage, corn silage, or whatever extra feed they have.

When they began farming, 80 acres was sufficient. But with more development, rented acreage had fallen and it was getting more difficult to find land to farm. "We got pinched," said Noel.

"This land came along in the nick of time."

The land will be used for additional corn and rye harvesting.

"We feel we're at a nice spot," said Schlegel, in terms of farm profitability. It's important that, with less worries over land availability, you take the stress off yourself, he said, and allow farming "to be fun."

Years before, the Schlegels used to finish hogs and sell bull calves. They abandoned the hog operation to concentrate on the dairy.

Noel Schlegel said that he used to farm in Dryville with his father, Francis Schlegel. He still cares for land now that he dad is retired.

At the Topton farm, Noel said that he cares for the cropping and feeding programs at the dairy. Elizabeth cares for the cows and keeps the records.

The Schlegels have three children: Sherry, 25, who works for a travel agency and is married to Dave Kutz; Kris, 22, who will soon be a graduate of Kings College in Wilkes-Barre; and Sheila, 18, a senior at Brandywine High School.

For more information about farm preservation, call the preservation board at (610) 378-1844.

Some of the nice cows are pretty good producers, too — including "Carrot," a 3-year-old Holstein who milked 26,000 pounds as a 2-year-old, Noel noted.

Vegetable Marketing

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr. announced May 6 that Pennsylvania's vegetable growers have voted to continue the Pennsylvania Vegetable Marketing and Research Program for another five years.

"This vote reflects the importance of this program to the future of Pennsylvania's vegetable industry," Hayes said. "It demonstrates a vote of confidence in the research support and promotional efforts the program provides."

An impartial Teller Committee comprised of individuals representing the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the Pennsylvania State Grange, the Pennsylvania Farmer's Union, the Pennsylvania State University Cooperative Extension and the Pennsylvania Agricultural Statistics Service counted the ballots in April.

Of those voting, 66 percent voted in favor of and 34 percent voted against continuing the program.

Pennsylvania's Agricultural Commodities Marketing Act stipulates that a program will continue when favored by a simple majority of those voting.

Pennsylvania's vegetable marketing and research program promotes the sale of Pennsylvania-grown vegetables and conducts research beneficial to the state's vegetable industry.

Regional Envirothon Competition May 12

SUNBURY (Northumberland Co.) — Sixty-three teams totalling 315 high school students from Columbia, Montour, Northumberland, Snyder, and Union counties will take part in the 13th annual Susquehanna Valley Envirothon on Tuesday, May 12 at Shikellamy State Park on the Island in Sunbury. The event is scheduled to begin at 9:15 a.m. and end at 1:30 p.m.

Students will be tested at five separate stations in each of the following categories: aquatics, forestry, wildlife, soils, and current issues. This year's current environmental issue is "watershed management." A fun, nontesting station is also included in the rotation. The nontesting station will focus on Native American culture and its rich history in this region.

The team from each county with the highest combined score will be declared the county winner, but there will also be an overall first place winner. All winners will receive awards. Each county winner is eligible to advance and participate in the Pennsylvania Envirothon competition being held at Bald Eagle State Park in Centre County on Thursday, May 28. Participants at the state level receive a certificate of participation, and the first place overall finisher at the state level wins an all expenses paid trip to the National Envirothon. The 1998 national event will be held in Michigan.

Representatives from the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, Pennsylvania Game Commission, Bureau of Forestry, USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service, Bureau of State Parks, and a current issues specialist will conduct the testing at each station. The Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection and conservation district personnel will also be assisting at the event.

The competition is sponsored by the conservation districts and is designated to heighten environmental awareness in each student, test their knowledge and understanding of resource issues, and produce environmentally responsible adults. Pennsylvania is the birthplace of the Envirothon. The National Envirothon now boasts participation by at least 42 states and four Canadian provinces.

The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau was one of the first groups notified, and, within less than a week, member food processors such as Knouse Foods, Furman Foods, International Home Foods, and Hatfield Quality Meats Inc., were contacted and quickly made substantial contributions, as did FSA and PFB employees.

Other farm groups, such as the Pennsylvania State Grange also donated foods, mostly from employees themselves, but had even less time to respond or contact members with large quantities of foods readily suitable for donation.

The PFB is the state's largest farmer-specific organization.

The State Grange — officially Patrons of Husbandry — represents all rural people.

Altogether, 12 tons of food were delivered. The contributions in Pennsylvania were sent to the Bethesda Mission in Harrisburg.

In a few days, through phone calls made by PFB staff to food processing members about the program, truckloads of foods showed up at the collection site, making Pennsylvania stand out among the states in donating foods to the food banks.

The food banks had been suffering from depleted reserves and a large part of the USDA's mission is involved with providing food vouchers or food to those in need.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman called for the short-run inhouse contribution campaign in order to help shore up dwindling supplies in food banks in the post-holiday season.

Following that presentation, in other business, Ed Hartman, chairman of the PFB FARMER selection committee, discussed the accomplishments of the group.

He said, since the PFB formed its political action committee FARMER in 1981 it has participated in nine general elections and has seen more than 487 state representatives and senators regarded as "friends of agriculture elected with our help," Hartman said.

He said that in the last election, all of the 71 FARMER-selected and supported candidates were elected to office.

He told the group that the committee is making plans soon for the 1998 election, specifically to decide who is to receive political contributions.

"Your input is important," he told the FARMER membership attending the banquet. He said that support must come from the membership.

The special guest speaker for the fund-raising banquet was Clifford Jones, a political pundit who, officially retired in 1981, has worked for three state governors and served in three state cabinets.

He held the appointed positions of secretary of the state Department of Environmental Resources, secretary of the state Department of Commerce, and secretary of the state Department of Labor and Industry.

Furthermore, Jones has served as chairman of the Pennsylvania Utilities Commission (PUC), chairman of the Pennsylvania Republican State Committee, and for 12 years as president of one of the state's most influential lobbying groups, the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry.

He also is chairman of the Pennsylvanians for Effective Government, served on the governor's BRAC committee to try to retain federal defense jobs in Pennsylvania, and he is executive director of a health cost containment group.

In addition, he sits on 20 other boards and committees dealing with communications, cultural and educational issues.

Jones is well known among those in the state's higher political circles as one who is a keen observer and analyst.

As speaker, he was asked to discuss Pennsylvania's outlook for the November elections, which feature re-election campaigns by Gov. Tom Ridge and Lt. Gov. Mark Schweiker (television campaign has started), as well as contested Republican seats in the state and federal House of Representatives.

He said that while U.S. Sen. Arlen Specter has been challenged, he expects Specter to retain his seat, mainly because of his long-time name recognition (he came up with and supports the single-bullet theory in the President Kennedy assassination) and incumbency.

Jones said that he prefer,

From the left, Bill Wehry, chairman of the USDA Farm Service Agency Committee for Pennsylvania, presents a certificate of appreciation from USDA to PFB for the efforts the farm organization made in making Pennsylvania a national leader in providing donations for local soup kitchens.

FARMER Members Care, Make A Difference

instead, to look farther that just at the fall's elections.

He said that he would recommend looking to the fall election as a tone-setter for the 1999 primary, and what it can mean to influence federal representation and power.

But first, he told the group, in essence, that they should be encouraged in their political endeavors, mainly because leadership is needed and, unfortunately, it appears that much of the general public is either too busy, too wrapped up in their own lives, or too apathetic to be concerned.

"That leaves it to people who really care," he said, "and you do."

He said that those attending the banquet should be proud because of their participation in helping to influence the system of public policy creation and development.

Jones said FARMER members should be proud of their efforts because they are the ones who show up at functions and events, who pay to support issues and candidates, and who are not afraid to get out and work for their candidates.

But he said that instead of just looking at fall elections, he prefers to consider primary elections as key elections, because they determine who is going to be contending for seats in November.

Likewise, he said that Pennsylvania's November elections are important because they set the power balance and tone for primaries next year, when the Republican majority of the House of Representatives is expected to be challanged.

He said the outcome of the governor's race this fall, along with the outcome of races for several Pennsylvania seats on the U.S. House of Representatives will be key in setting the tone for next year's primary.

He said the outcome of the race for incumbent U.S. Rep. Bill Goodling's federal seat is important. (Goodling was first elected to the United States House in 1974.)

He said that during this last term, Goodling has been chairman of the education committee and he is being questioned in the campaign in terms of whether he is "conservative" enough for his constituency.

Jones said that those who feel he is should go out and support Goodling. "The outcome will depend on those who care," he said.

FARMER members should keep in mind that many political races can come down to the difference between "a couple hundred votes or a couple thousand dollars," he said.

He said that Goodling's race is important because it helps determine whether U.S. Congress for the last two years of Clinton's term will be Republican powered, or Democratically powered.

Voting for individuals not only has bearing locally, but it has bearing on national issues and the political power environment that can allow agendas to move forward, he said.

As a group, he said FARMER members need to know where it is they want to go, policy wise, and politically how to get there.

In other words, he was advising them to develop a strategy to accomplish their agenda and to develop their politic action strategy upon that foundation.

But he also urged them not to become trapped into the politically imprudent practice of becoming "one-issue" voters and decide whom to support on one platform issue.

He said this is a dangerous practice for those who truly wish to accomplish larger political goals because an announced position on one issues such as abortion rights, does little to ensure that the candidate has any political savy, understanding of the constituency, competency to perform, or ability to deliver on any promises once in office.

Instead, he said he recommends selecting candidates who can be "trusted."

By that, he explained that, in his experience, a public representative who generally agrees with the majority of policy positions of his constituency, who is open to discussing the issue and can intelligently explain why he may disagree with a position and can't in good conscience vote for it, is a better choice as a political representative than someone who champions a single cause, or happens to publicly support one issue.

Jones also said he had respect and thanks for those who are willing to lend themselves to public service and the political process.

He said it is difficult for anyone because "anything you did bad will be in the newspapers, and if you never did anything bad, it will still be in the newspapers (that you did)."

Public representatives are always vilified for their personal convictions, he said.

"When we look at a legislator, a senator or congressman, you may think, 'That's a good job!'" Jones said, adding that it really isn't. "It's a tough job."

He said that those who don't feel they have the pockets or free time to dedicate to a candidate's campaign can do other such things as allowing signs to be placed in their yard, or in cases where local ordinances forbid such signage, bumper stickers prominently displayed help create the necessary name recognition needed for election.

He said letter writing, willingness to be part of a radio program or advertisement can also be key contributions to carrying out a successful campaign.

Personal endorsements are also important, he said, especially from farmers.

Though he didn't specifically refer to the fact that farmers enjoy a public perception of wholesomeness, honesty and family values, despite public sentiment against "corporate farming" and pesticides, etc., he said, "Your voice as a farmer means more. Your public endorsement (of a candidate), any way you can, can make a difference," he said.

He said farmers who freely speak to others about candidates in personal conversations (even at a public store), at public events or in news interviews, will have an impact on the vote.

He also said that it should be considered that a person's livelihood is very much affected by public policy making and those who work as hard for a candidate as they do for a living will have the candidates they want.

Additionally, Jones did a brief and rapid review of some of the contested and unusual races in the state for this fall. Though he didn't delve deeply into them, he mentioned enough specifics to indicate he was aware of the key issues that appear to hold the most influence in the outcome of those races.

However, he didn't predict any of those races, rather mentioning them and advising the group to select carefully.

Gov. Ridge Proclaims May Pennsylvania Egg Month

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Gov. Tom Ridge has proclaimed May as Pennsylvania Egg Month in recognition of the commonwealth's poultry industry and reputation as a world leader in egg production.

Gov. Ridge said Pennsylvania Egg Month honors the commonwealth's egg producers for the economical and nutritious eggs they provide.

Pennsylvania is ranked third nationally in egg production. The state's laying flocks produce nearly six million eggs and generate more than $264.8 million for the state's economy each year.

"The Ridge Administration continues to work with the state's poultry producers to build an international market for the industry," said Agriculture Secretary Samuel E. Hayes Jr. "Gov. Ridge and I are committed to helping the poultry industry expand and to protecting poultry flocks from devastating diseases such as avian influenza."

Following the 1997 avian influenza outbreak, Gov. Ridge worked with the General Assembly to secure $5 million to provide financial assistance to affected Lancaster and Lebanon counties poultry producers.

Also, the Ridge Administration's Agriculture and Health departments worked with the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation to develop the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program (PEQAP), a public/private partnership designed to assure the quality and safety of eggs produced in Pennsyvania.

Dairy Cattle Exporters Use Port Of Philadelphia And Camden

Bred heifers board a ship in the Port of Philadelphia and Camden for the start of a 21-day trip across the Atlantic to Lebanon.

PHILADELPHIA — A shipment of 850 bred Holstein heifers recently left the Port of Philadelphia and Camden for a 21-day trip to the country of Lebanon, marking the second shipment from the port.

State Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr., who has been aggressively promoting exporting activities and opportunities, attended the early morning shipment in order to observe the loading of the heifers for the trip.

"We want to see the Port of Philadelphia used for more and more exports like this," Hayes said, noting that Gov. Tom Ridge and his administration are committed to increasing exporting opportunities for Pennsylvania's farmers and agribusinesses.

The first shipment out of the port was done last October through R.K. Exports Inc., of Culpepper, Va. G. Gordon Thornhill, general manager of the business, assembled both orders, collecting animals from 20 states.

The animals were housed at the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's Middletown farm, used as an official quarantine station.

In addition to serving the PHA for its export shipments, the Middletown facility is also leased for the use of other organizations in preparing animals for shipments and as a quarantine holding area prior to being shipped to ensure that the animals conform to specific biological security measures required by purchasers and those required by United States' regulations.

With bales of straw being hoisted onto a ship being readied to export a shipment of bred heifers to the country of Lebanon, from the left, Jamie McDermott, executive director of the Philadelphia Regional Port Authority, which manages the Port of Philadelphia and Camden, stands with state Secretary of Agriculture Samuel Hayes Jr., and is joined by Elizabeth Murphy, Port Authority director of strategic planning.

have already temporarily banned building new high-density hog farms, he said, and local citizens and governments continuously oppose poultry operations. Ways of keeping water supplies clean as well as controlling odors and flies must be developed.

Hoffman listed the "perception as well as the reality of food safety" as the second greatest challenge students will face in their careers. He said public education on how safe food already is and how to handle it properly is necessary to counteract paranoia and demands for more government regulation from distorted news reports. He stated that 98% of all

1998 Pennsylvania Pasture Growth Study

(Compiled by Craig Williams, Tioga County extension agent)

The following is pasture grass growth from Berks and Somerset county. Notice how fast the grass grows in the peak times of the year. To keep up with this growth, we must keep the cows moving around the paddocks. News reports from Englend and Ireland say they are averaging 125-150 % faster growth this spring than their normal. In the upcoming weeks I will show the comparision for last year to this year. We have had lots of rain here in Tioga County, If it warms up and the sun comes our grass growth is ready to take off.

food-borne illness is caused by improper food handling.

Hoffman said more management and testing techniques, such as those in the Pennsylvania Egg Quality Assurance Program, must be developed for producers and processors. This program, which is voluntary and is the only one of its kind in the U.S., has reduced instances of SE-positive poultry plants in the state from 38% to 9%.

Processors must develop better packaging and storage techniques, Hoffman stated. At the processing level he feels irradiation may be the ultimate answer to food safety, but the economic feasibility of building irradiation plants must be examined even before tackling the problem of consumer acceptance of eating irradiated foods.

Overcoming the political opposition to the use of vaccine to prevent avian influenza is another challenge for poultry scientists, Hoffman said. Currently the USDA bans vaccine use, and foreign buyers have threatened to embargo chicken and egg products from treated birds.

Hoffman cautioned that although animal rightists, who believe animals have the same rights as humans and should not be under human control, have so far alienated legislators with their outrageous behavior and illegal activities, they may become more moderate in their approach. If they do, Hoffman feels they may get support for their view that all animals should be totally free.

To be successful in their careers, Hoffman told the students they should be likable by not being negative and argumentative and should be self-starters, doing tasks that need to be done before they are assigned.

In other banquet activities club members received awards, the new officers were announced, and club advisor Dirk Wise reviewed the club's activities for the year.

Award winners were: Highest Grade Point Average - Heather Lehman; Highest Grade Point Average in Poultry Science - Jason Martin; Most Active Club Member - Stephanie Bowman; and Most Active New Club Member - Matt Molnar. The new officers for 1998-99 are: President, Stephanie Bowman; Vice President - Jason Martin; Secretary-Treasurer - Tom Karr; and Ag Student Council Representative - Matt Molnar.

Dairy Situation And Outlook

By Bob Cropp
Dairy Marketing and Policy Specialist
University of Wisconsin Cooperative Extension-Madison

Milk production continues to run ahead of a year ago despite weather related problems in California, parts of the Southeast and Northeast. California in particular has faired quite well under the earlier El Nino related wet weather. For March, compared to a year ago, California reported milk per cow down .8% (weather related), but because milk cow numbers were 3.7% higher, total milk production was up 2.9%. Reports are that California is aggressively purchasing dairy replacements for cows culled due to weather related health problems.

Better milk prices and lower feed costs are encouraging California dairy farmers to push for more milk production. Other states experiencing declines in milk per cow were Washington, -0.3%; Arizona, -10.0%; New Mexico, -4.3%; Texas, -1.0%; and Florida, -9.2%. Texas and Washington had respectively, 3.3% and 1.5% fewer milk cows,

Florida had no change in milk cows, and Arizona and New Mexico had respectively, 4% and 6% more cows. As a result, the net change in March milk production was: Arizona, -6.1%; New Mexico, +1.4%; Washington, -1.8%; Texas, -4.3%; and Florida, -9.3%.

Despite milk production being down 9.3% for Florida, milk production was still relatively strong for the season, and winter tourist were departing and lowering demand, so Florida still had more than enough milk for beverage needs and was shipping milk out of the state to find a manufacturing home.

Milk production continues to expand at a rapid pace in Idaho. For March, Idaho had 7.6% more milk cows that averaged 7.7% more milk which increased total milk production 15.9%.

In the Northeast, milk cow numbers were down 0.4% for New York, 4.2% for Ohio, 2.0% for Michigan, with no change for Pennsylvania. Milk per cow was up in each state (OH and PA 4%, and NY and MI 0.7%). As a result, total milk production was up 3.6% for Pennsylvania, just 0.3% for New York, and down, respectively 0.3% and 1.3% for Ohio and Michigan.

Milk cow numbers continue to be well below year ago levels for other southeastern states. For example, March cow numbers were down 7.5% for Kentucky, and 8.1% for Missouri. Although milk per cow was strong for each of these two states, up 4% and 6%, it was not enough to offset the decline in milk cow numbers. Total milk production was down 3.7% and 2.3%, respectively for Kentucky and Missouri.

Milk cow numbers remain well below year ago levels in Wisconsin and Minnesota, down respectively, 1.9% and 3.4%. Milk per cow, however, was strong, being up 4.5% and 2.2%. The net was a 2.8% increase in total milk production for Wisconsin and a decline of 1.2% for Minnesota.

In summary, Marchl milk production for the U.S. was up 1.0%, compared to increases of 0.6% for February and 0.9% for January. For the first 3 months, milk cow numbers average 1.2% lower, milk per cow averaged 2.1% higher, and accumulative milk production was up 0.8%.

Farm level milk prices have held at record levels for this time of the year despite increased milk production and increased stocks of dairy products. The average all milk price for March was a record $14.50 per hundredweight for the U.S., for Wisconsin $14.40 and for California $13.20.

The average U.S. all milk price has surpassed the $14.00 mark for six straight months. Although the March BFP dropped $.51 from February, $13.32 to $12.81, it was a March record. The previous March high was $12.77 in 1994. The $12.81 March BFP was $.32 high than a year ago.

With milk prices above a year ago and the price of corn, soybeans, and cottonseed all lower than a year ago, the milk feed price ratio is also improved from a year ago. The March milk feed price ratio was 1.71 compared to just 1.54 a year ago. Hay prices in recent weeks have also declined in the West. The improved relationship between feed prices and milk prices is favorable to increase milk production.

Increased milk production this spring will put pressure on milk prices. However, the lows of 1997 are not predicted. Last year the 40 pound cheddar bock price on the CME averaged just $1.1588 per pound and brought down the May BFP to a low of $10.70 per hundredweight. As of April 9, CME 40 pound cheddar blocks were $1.30 per pound, down $.085 since March 20, and cheddar barrels were $1.26 per pound, down $.0375 since March 20.

The price spread between blocks and barrels is now more normal, about 4 cents per pound. Grade AA CME butter has held at $1.345 since then. But with cheese prices down this much, the April BFP will likely drop close to $12.00.

We can expect additional declines in cheese prices for the immediate weeks ahead. Cheese stocks are higher than a year ago. February 28 stocks of natural American cheese were 405 million pounds, up 6.9% from a year ago. Butter stocks were 44 million pounds, up 22%. But nevertheless, CME 40 pound cheddar blocks may not drop below $1.26 per pound this spring keeping the BFP at $11.40 per hundredweight this coming May.

The spring flush in the southeast has made additional milk available for manufacturing. This milk along with some milk from the southwest seeking a higher price home have entered the Chicago market order area. The result, has been a sharp drop in the over order premiums negotiated by dairy cooperatives.

Over order premiums in neighboring orders are also affected. For example, over order premiums from March to April for selected cities are as follows: Chicago, Il, $2.03 to $1.59; Minneapolis, MN, $1.37 to $.65; Des Moines, IA, $1.43 to $.65; and Kansas City, MO, $1.38 to $.60. Since these are low class I utilization markets, the impact on farm level blend milk prices are less than $.10 per hundredweight, but nevertheless are a decline in potential net pay prices.

Chester County Dairy Promotions

The Dairy Promotion Committee in Chester County has embarked on another ambitious program year for 1998. Over the years, the county has been very active in promoting dairy products through a wide range of programs, and 1998 is no exception The heart of our fund raising is focused on the "Dairy Wagon," a trailer from which members of the dairy community sell milk, ice cream, and milk shakes at events from June to October. The committee is always in need of help, so dairy families should seriously consider promoting their own product by working in the "Dairy Wagon" this summer Contact Lester High (610) 469-1211, George Lamborn (610) 932-3305, or Charlene Ranck (717) 442-9008 if you can spare a few hours for a worthwhile cause Your help would be greatly appreciated!

This Spring, Take Time for Farm Safety

With the arrival of spring, there often seems to be more work to do than time available to get it done Manure needs to be hauled, fields need to be tilled and planted, and so on Amidst all of this chaos and confusion, safety can quickly fall by the way side or be forgotten completely.

Most of us know proper safety measures; however, often times we fail to take enough time to use them properly Here are a few quick facts to remember while completing our spring time chores

Tillage -

-Be careful of the razor sharpness of tillage wear points and bolts. When changing tillage points, never try to hold the bolt head with your hands.

-Always make sure a safety lock is in place before climbing under the machine to perform this task.

Spraying -

-Protective Gear This goes without saying. Always follow the label and protect yourself appropriately.

-Fire Extinguishers - A class ABC extinguisher should be kept up to date and carried on each piece of self-propelled equipment (tractors, trucks, etc.) but especially on pesticide sprayers. Many times we realize the toxicity of farm chemicals and guard ourselves with protective clothes, however, we forget how flammable they can be.

-Clean Wash Water - Always have an adequate supply of fresh wash water along while spraying

Planting -

-Since numerous seeds are protected with various types of seed treatment, follow many of the same precautions as spraying

-Never oil chains while the machine is moving.

Forage Production -

-Never hand feed material into a forage harvester. The material and you can be taken in quicker than you can let go of it.

-When unloading silage at a forage blower, always be careful and avoid contact with the rotating shafts around you. Always keep shirt tails tucked in, and never wear loose fitting clothes. Never, ever, climb or reach over a rotating PTO shaft!

General -

- Carry First Aid Kits and refill them when necessary. Dirty grease rags in a tool box don't count as bandaging material.
- Take small breaks periodically throughout the day. This is proven to greatly enhance your alertness and work output.

Remember, safety takes a little extra time. However, considering the loses you may experience if you fail to heed these warnings, it may be time well spent.

Pa. DHIA Develops New Products

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — MUN, made a household word by Pa. DHIA, has benefited our members helping them produce milk more efficiently, and made our DRPC the largest database in America with over 1,500,000 tests performed.

Now with true protein added this effort will help our members improve their nutritional efficiency in the future.

The accuracy of Pa. DHIA's management and genetic information has never been better and without question the most accurate DHIA in America.

Our percentage of usable records for genetic evaluation has gone from 76 percent to 83 percent in four years. No other DRPC comes close.

Pa. DHIA is the only full-service, independent DHIA in America. The accuracy of your DHIA means that you can make management decisions with confidence, and you will get a greater return from the A.I. industry when using young sires.

Pa. DHIA is continually developing new products and programs, which are available to members and non-members. One such program, Heifer 98, will be released to our technicians in the next few weeks.

Heifer*Net*, still in development, is part of the program that will aid members with purchasing and selling of cattle.

Another project in development is a herd management program to be completed this summer. This is a dairy farmer led project that will be a very powerful and affordable herd management tool.

Pa. DHIA has an Owner Sampler program now available. It provides basic reports and all records are forwarded to USDA.

Please feel free to contact Pa. DHIA at 1-800-DHI-TEST if we can assist with your dairy management record system.

Discovering Agriculture

Last week, Dr. Robert Steele, the Dean of Penn State's College of Agriculture Sciences noted that students many times did not "discover" agriculture until they had begun their academic studies.

According to the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, one out of every five Pennsylvania residents is employed in an agriculture-related position! How could an industry as diverse and rewarding as agriculture have trouble with students identifying it as a viable career choice?

The answer is in the definition of agriculture. If the general community were asked to define a career in agriculture, most people would start with farmer and maybe mention the occasional tractor salesman. But by today's definition, agriculture careers translate into everything from biotechnology and genetic engineers, to food processing and landscape contractors.

The root of the problem may be found in the misconceptions about agriculture held by our educators and guidance counselors across the state. Reaching to our guidance counselors, to paint a true picture of the industry, could help recruit the next generation of agricultural leaders.

So where do we get started? The best thing we can do is to become actively involved with our school systems. A local farmer was recently asked to be a part of Career Day at his local high school. His presentation didn't focus on how to become a farmer, but rather on careers related to agriculture, which help feed and clothe the nation. The students had a completely new perspective at the end of the presentation and were very excited about their opportunities in agriculture.

Some of the diverse careers they talked about were:

1. Advanced mechanical engineering
2. Biotechnology and genetic engineering
3. Veterinary sciences and medical research
4. Forestry and wood products
5. Food processing and retailing
6. Landscaping and floral design
7. Golf course management
8. Environmental sciences
9. Business management
10. Agricultural law and financial planning

We also need to make agriculture fun for teachers to teach. Organizations such as the Ag Awareness Foundation, Ag in the Classroom and many other organizations do tremendous work in showing the diversity of agriculture. As we focus on the careers that make agriculture dynamic and challenging, the best and brightest students will be attracted to our industry.

Many school districts hold a Science Fair competition each year for students to research and compete against their peers. By developing scholarships for agricultural science projects, we can begin to draw our most talented students into the agricultural industry.

Recruiting our next generation of agriculturalists today is one of our biggest challenges. We need to start early and paint a true picture of careers in agriculture. We can't all be farmers, you know.

Arabians Farms To Hold Open House

WEST GROVE (Chester Co.) — On Sunday, May 17, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. the SE District of the Pennsylvania Arabian Horse Association will sponsor a day of fun and learning for all horse lovers. Multiple Arabian horse farms have agreed to open their farms and barns to the public. Admission is free. Visitors will drive from farm to farm at their own pace, visiting as many of the farms as they choose, and spreading as much time as they like at each one.

The day promises to be educational, as well as fun. There will be items of interest for both the person contemplating buying their first horse and the experienced horseman.

Arabian horses, among the oldest known breed, are included in the foundation for many other of the light breeds, including the thoroughbred. They are beautiful, intelligent and have a kind, loving nature. The intense affection and loyalty Arabian horses hold for their masters, truly sets them apart from other breeds.

On your tour you will enjoy seeing the stallions standing at stud to the outside mares. A son of national champion, "Aladdinn" and a son of reserve national champion, "Imperial Imdal" will be shown. After observing these sons you will readily see why both their sires have become world renown. Most farms will have stallions to present. For example, one cannot visit Equine Enterprises, Ltd., (Landenberg)), without Paula Campanelli presenting her beautiful stallion, "Tha Saroei Moniet." Paula, who believes strongly in breeding athletic horses, has used "Saroei" for Three Day Eventing. Paula plans to focus the attention of visitors on her breeding program of classic Arabians and Anglo-Arabians (an Arabian/Thoroughbred cross) with extreme athletic ability. Pauls owns breeding rights to a German bred Arabian stallion that is approved to be a sire of International Sport Horses.

Each farm will feature beautiful broodmares, some will have foals frolicking in the pasture. At Stoneback Arabians farm visitors will have the opportunity to experience up close the inquisitive, playful nature of new born foals. Randy plans to present this year's foal crop, which should number between 12 and 15. In addition he has 12 stallions standing at public stud, these stallions will be shown to visitors. Many of the foals will be by these sires.

Drs. John and Jane Fassinger Lee of Sham Felek Arabians, Rising Sun, Md., will provide tours of their state-of-the-art breeding center. The Arabian industry leads other breeds in using advanced breeding techniques, such as the use of frozen or cooled semen and conducting embryo transfers. Learn how these sophisticated breeding techniques allow out best stallions to cover more mares in a season and extend the reproductive lives of our aged broodmares. Longtime breeders of black Arabians, Dr. Lee will present six stallions, two of which are black.

Glidden Arabians, West Grove, will focus on the versatility and temperament of the Arabian. There are exhibitions in English, Western and Hunter pleasure planned as well as native costume and possibly side-saddle. Visitors will be given the opportunity to experience first-hand the kind loving nature of the Arabian. The Gliddens raise each new foal much like a parent raises a child, each newborn receiving an abundance of love and attention. This early attention results in adult horses developing a very strong bond with humans — they become more than just a horse to be enjoyed — they become true companions to their masters.

Yorklyn Arabians in Hockessin, Del., are longtime breeders of straight Egyptian Arabians. The Amirs imported their three beautiful foundation mares from Egypt. Because the straight Egyptian Arabian is perhaps some of the purest Arabian blood, straight Egyptians are noted for the prepotency in breeding programs.

Visitors should come away at the day's end with an understanding of why the Arabian has been loved and admired for hundreds of years. So pack up the family, bring a friend, and come on out to a fun-filled day with Arabian Horses.

All farms are easily accessible from U.S. 1 between Avondale and the Pa./Md. border. Flyers with the schedule of exhibitions and directions to each participating farm are available at local feed stores and tack shops or may be obtained by calling Ron Glidden at: (610) 869-9878 and leaving your name and address.

"I LOVE YOU" MOM

FIREPLACE CASSEROLE

1 onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 cup macaroni or other shaped noodle
2 cups leftover turkey or chicken or ground beef, sauteed
2 cups corn
3 fresh tomatoes, chopped or equivalent canned tomatoes
1 cup milk
8-ounces cream cheese
Shredded cheddar, if desired

Saute the onion, garlic, and green pepper until onion is translucent. Turn off heat. Add macaroni, meat, corn, tomatoes, milk, and salt to taste. Place in oven-proof casserole dish and top with slices of cream cheese until the whole top is covered. Sprinkle with some cheddar if desired.

Bake at 375 degrees for approximately 45 minutes to an hour or until the macaroni is cooked through. Eat a piece to test it. Now gather your family or close friends around you, light a cozy fire, and enjoy!

This is a favorite recipe of mine made by my fantastic mother! This recipe will always remind me of home, family, winter days by the fire, and of course, my mother, Regina Stancill.

She is an amazing woman. She has always been a great role model for my sister and me. She is an artist, a farmer, a business woman, full-time mom, and great friend (not to mention an excellent cook). I have always looked up to ther because she is talented and smart, and because of her, I never doubted that I could do anything I set my mind to do.

The delicious dinner tastes just as good as leftovers and even cold.

Emlyn Stancill

Thanks, Mom!

8-ounces cream cheese, softened
½ pint sour cream
2½ tablespoons Worcestershire sauce

Sauce:

1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 shakes garlic
¾ cup grated cheese
½ cup milk

Combine all ingredients and put in greased baking dish. Top with about ¼ cup cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 45 minutes or until warmed through and bubbly. Serve with toasted wheat crackers.

Ronnie, Kel, Josh, and Kyle Miller

Great Grandmother Mabelle Kilgore and Great-Grandfather Emory with grandchildren Josh and Kyle Miller, Kelsey Knight, Becky, Raechel, and Chris Kilgore.

16-ounce can tomatoes
2 slices cheese

Brown beef. Remove from heat and stir in soup mix, water, rice, and tomatoes. Cover and cook until rice is tender, about 25 minutes. Spread cheese on top. Cover until cheese melts.

This is a quick tasty meal that my wife Peggy makes. We both enjoy it very much. I hope you do to.

My wife enjoys trying new recipes. Peggy also enjoys sewing and gardening. She's a great wife.

BAKED CORN

3 cups corn
4 eggs

4 tablespoons sugar
Salt and pepper
2 cups milk

Beat eggs lightly, add other ingredients. Place in a greased 9x13-inch baking dish. Set dish in a shallow pan of water. Bake at 350 degrees until set approximately one hour and 15 minutes or until inserted knife comes out clean.

Submitted with lots of love.

Our great grandmother Mabelle Kilgore is 93 years old. She and our grandfather Emory have lived and worked on the family farm in Airville most of their lives. One of our families favorite recipes is baked corn.

FRIED SAUERKRAUT
(Kapoosta)

2 16-ounce cans sauerkraut, drained
1 large onion, finely sliced
Salt and pepper to taste
4 tablespoons oil or bacon drippings

Place sauerkraut in strainer. Pour can of cold water over it and squeeze to remove excess water.

Place oil or bacon drippings in fry pan. Add sauerkraut and sliced onions, salt and pepper to taste. Slowly simmer until onions are soft and sauerkraut has taken on a golden color. Watch carefully as this has a tendency to burn.

My mom always made this when we have a roast pork and mashed potatoes.

AMELIA GATTIS'S APPLE CARROT CASSEROLE

8 carrots cut into 1-inch pieces
20-ounce can apple pie filling, drained
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Paprika
Butter

Cook carrots in lightly salted boiling water 12-15 minutes. Drain and add to apple pie filling with lemon juice. Pour half of mixture into a greased square baking dish. Sprinkle with ¼ cup sugar. Add remaining mixture and sprinkle with balance of sugar. Dot generously with butter and coat heavily with paprika. Bake at 375 degrees for one hour. May be prepared a day in advance. Serves 10-12.

My mother was born in Italy, 79 years ago. She is a woman of the '90s. She is a wonderful, loving, and caring mom and grandmom. Amelia has three daughters, eight grandchildren, and four great grandchildren.

CARAMEL PUDDING

4 cups brown sugar
½ pound margarine
1 gallon milk
12 eggs, beaten
8 tablespoons flour
8 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Brown the sugar and butter. Set aside. Heat milk. Add eggs, flour, cornstarch, and salt to the milk. Boil slowly until thick. Take off stove. Add sugar mixture and vanilla. Then beat with a mixer. Cool.

Note: Half the recipe makes two large dishes.

Mom often makes caramel pudding when she wants to make a pudding. This pudding is many times a dessert when we have Sunday dinner guests.

Mom teaches me how to do housework. I like to help cook. I also am learning to sew from her skills.

I complain to her and she listens instead of telling me to be quiet. Who does she have to tell her problems?

Mom does a good job of helping her 10 children. She does her best to keep us happy and cared for. It must be lots of work. God chose just the right mother for me!

"Love your mother."

We encourage our Sunday School class youngsters to think about and practice that. (And to love their fathers, too.) You might expect to find that message on a selection from your local card store. An advertisement from the floral industry. Maybe even a restaurant chain hoping you might treat her to lunch. Their lunch, of course.

But on a bumper sticker?

"Gee," I thought, "that seems a little different for a bumper sticker."

Then, the rest of the message carried on the bumper of the sport utility vehicle became visible — and made complete sense. For at the far side of the long promotional sticker was a picture of the earth.

Love your Mother . . . Earth.

What a lovely and positive thought, was my first reaction. But the longer I thought about it, the funnier it got.

Because, here we had a good-sized, probably somewhat gas-guzzling, air-polluting vehicular emissions source promoting good stewardship over Mother Earth.

When one of the critical issues causing Mother Earth to choke up happens to be vehicular emissions and the side effects that go with them.

Probably lots of the admonitions many of us grew up with from our own mothers were — directly or indirectly-related to the kind of good stewardship and good citizenship that is necessary to be good to our Mother . . . Earth.

Don't litter. Along the roads, in the back yards, in the fields, in the streams. In your room. I frequently return from walks along the road with discarded drink and fast food containers tossed out by passing drivers. To say nothing of those piles of personal trash pitched into ours and other convenient woodlots along the highways.

Or, how about this mother admonition: if you're cold, put on a sweater. (My brothers always claimed a sweater was something you wore when your mom was cold.) But, by not overheating our buildings, and instead raising our comfort level via another layer, we can reduce maybe by at least a smidgeon the burning of fossil fuels to keep ourselves overheated.

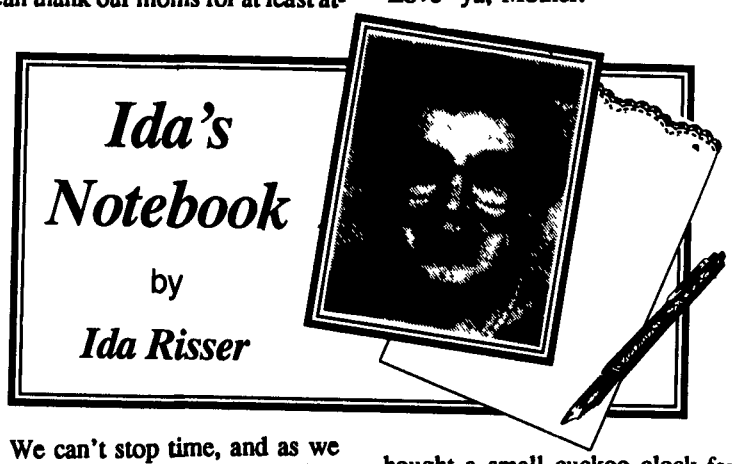
Shut the refrigerator door . . . Turn off the TV if you're not watching it . . . Turn off the air conditioner and open the window. Ever hear Mom say any of these? Help cut the electric bill, for goodness sake, much of which is also generated by those diminishing fossil fuels.

Clean off your plate. Remember Mom telling you that? We waste so much food. And continue to tear down and burn off virgin timbers and jungles around the world to clear land to grow more to keep the price cheap so we can continue to waste it. Trees which, by the way, help Mother Earth purify the air for us to breathe.

Like our own mothers, Mother Earth is amazingly tolerant and generously forgiving about our naughty behavior. Given the slightest opportunity, she will seed and sprout and re-green even the ugliest earth-batterings which we administer. Mother's persistence is evident everywhere you see weeds and grass sprouting up through the slightest crack in concrete or asphalt.

And then there's that favorite "momism" about changing your underwear every day, just in case you'd be in an accident and have to be taken to the hospital. Did anyone's mom ever really say that?

Mom's messages generally all come back to one starting point — personal responsibility. As we again celebrate Mother's Day, we can thank our moms for at least attempting to instill us with that. And love them — Mother and Mother Earth — for their abundant forgiveness when we forget. Love 'ya, Mother.



We can't stop time, and as we get older we think that it goes faster. Children think that time goes slowly, as they wait for a birthday or a special holiday.

And, what marks time for us? Clocks, watches, and other time pieces are important in our lives. My parents had a wall clock that sat on a shelf and inside were hidden the numbers to their large safe. It was moved from house to house and now my sister has it.

Our son made a Grandfather's clock in high school, and I enjoyed having it chime away in our living room. However, when he got married, he took it to Georgia and now this spot was empty. So, we bought another Grandfather's clock. This is an older one, but it has no chimes.

When I was in Switzerland, I bought a small cuckoo clock for our youngest son. I'm not sure that it runs just now but it is an oddity. One watch that I prize is the Hamilton wristwatch that my parents gave me as a graduation gift. It is solid gold and has my initials on it.

When I was a teen-ager, I had a few chckens and sold their eggs for 12 cents a dozen. After enough pennies were saved, I bought myself a used Swiss wristwatch. Then it stopped running. I was very upset. Probably I had not wound it properly. But, I still remember that day.

Somewhere there is a quote that says, in regard to a river, "Men may come and men may go, but I go on forever." How true that statement is.

Happy

On Pins & Needles

Tips on sewing "equipment" usually refer to new technology in fabrics or machines and their component parts. But, let's not forget some of the basic "equipment" needed whenever you sew. Fran Kozen textiles and apparel engineering, Cornell Cooperative Extension, shared some interesting information on pins and needles in the publication "Textiles & Apparel News."

There are many different types of needles. General purpose handsewing needles are called sharps. Quilters and tailors use shorter needles called betweens. Embroidery/crewel needles have long eyes to take multiple strands of embroidery threads, while tapestry needles have blunt ends to slide through spaces between yarns as well as large eyes to hold thicker yarns. Ballpoint needles have rounded tips, designed to prevent snags on knit and stretch fabrics. Sewing on leather, fur, vinyl, and plastic requires use of a leather needle, which has a triangular point. At least two types of easy-threading needles exist: the calyx needle with a slot eye to slide thread into, and the new Diamond Eye needle, which has a very fine diamond-shaped wire eye, larger than conventional eyes, at the end.

A great variety of pins are available for sewing. Packages are labeled with a pin's size and sometimes shaft diameter. Size refers to pin length in sixteenths of an inch. So, a size 16 pin is 1" long, and a size 8 pin is ½ " long. Some pins are plain metal, and some have pretty colored heads. Medium-length dressmaker pins with flat metal heads are economical, general-purpose pins. Silk pins are all-purpose pins with a finer shaft. Fine pleating pins are appropriate for light to medium weight fabrics. There are extra-fine pins available, suitable for microfibers and other firmly woven, fine fabrics. Ballpoint pins are designed for knits, while long dressmaker pins (sizes 20 to 24) are designed for heavyweight fabrics. Large-head pins are favored by quilters and home decorating sewers. These are often labeled "extra strong" or "needle strength" to show that harder metal wire was used to manufacture them. Large-head pins generally have colorful plastic, pearlized metal, or even glass heads, making them easy to grasp and easy to find if they fall on the floor. Some have flat flowerheads that can be pressed over without leaving a distinct imprint on the fabric. Sequin pins are very short pins useful for applique and other intricate, detailed needlework. And, for really heavy jobs such as upholstery or canvas, T-pins are very strong, heavy pins.

Like needles, pins are manufactured from metal wire, although not always steel. Traditional pins were brass, which is susceptible to rust and corrosion and is not attracted to magnetic pincushions. Stainless steel pins offer the best resistance to rust and corrosion, but they are not magnetic either. Nickel-plating provides brass and steel pins with magnetic properties and also increases rust and corrosion resistance.

And remember —

"See a pin, pick it up
All the day you'll have good luck.
See a pin and let it lay,
Bad luck you'll have all the day."

What's New At The Supermarket

SPRINGFIELD (Delaware Co.) – Been to the grocery store lately and noticed all of the "greens" in the produce department? Wondered how to cook bok choy, broccoli rabe or the new aspiration (excellent sources of beta carotene and calcium)? How about irradiated or organic food? And those Wow potato chips with olestra?

"What's New at the Supermarket" is an interactive class for food enthusiasts offered by Penn State Cooperative Extension at their Springfield office in Smedley Park. On May 18 from 1:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. and repeated from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m., Fran Alloway, family living agent and registered dietitian will provide a cooking class that will explore new and unusual foods found in your grocery store. This is an opportunity for adventuresome cooks with picky eaters at home to share some new taste experiences.

A preregistration fee of $5 will hold your spot and should be sent to Delaware Co. Cooperative Extension by May 15. Participants should come hungry Questions and directions: (610)690-2655.

Walk In Great-Grandmother's Shoes

MUMFORD, N.Y. – The life of 19th-century women may seem alien, even mysterious, in today's environment. Sometimes, however, just walking in their shoes can clarify so much.

You will get that opportunity when Genesee Country Village & Museum is the setting for a special weekend experience, "Women of the Genesee: Issues of the 19th Century," a three-day workshop May 22 to 24.

A series of discussion workshops focusing on education, politics, medicine, religion and other concerns will explore 19th-century issues, focusing on their historical context and the relevance to women today. Each will take place within the historic Village in several of the 57 restored buildings and will include an opportunity for hands-on activities.

Like women of the time, workshop participants will be encouraged to keep a journal reflecting on their experience. Immersed in the 19th-century environment, they have the opportunity to gain some insight into the issues of the day and their importance today as women prepare to enter the 21st-century.

Fee for the workshop is $40 and includes Saturday dinner. For more information or to register, call the museum at (716) 538-6822.

The workshop is the first John L. Wehle Learning Weekend, a series of educational studies that will focus on topics of historical and contemporary interest to the Genessee Valley. It honors the museum founder for his contribution to retaining the history and culture of the region.

Genessee Country Village & Museum, which opens for its 23rd season on May 9, is the nation's third-largest collection of historic buildings. Located 20 miles southwest of rochester and 45 miles east of Buffalo in Mumford, N.Y., the museum's fully furnished and restored buildings are populated with costumed villagers and craftspeople.

Tribute To Women Who've Made A Difference In Readers' Lives

CAPE MAY CHICKEN AND VEGETABLE PIE

3 cups cooked chicken, diced
1 can cream of chicken soup
8-ounces sour cream
½ cup milk
Sliced carrots
Broccoli florets
1 cup Bisquick
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
1 cup grated cheddar cheese, optional

In a saucepan, combine chicken, soup, sour cream, and milk. Heat thoroughly. Pour into a very large casserole. Lightly steam some carrots and broccoli and add to chicken mixture. Mix together Bisquick milk, salt, and egg. Pour this mixture over the chicken. Sprinkle with cheddar cheese. Bake 20-25 minutes at 375 degrees.

This is in honor of my grandmother Jean White on her "Promotion to Glory," in March.

This recipe, given to me by my grandmother, is the first meal I cooked for my soon-to-be husband Lew.

This will be our first Mother's Day without her. We will be celebrating her life by having a party on Mother's Day and cooking all her best recipes. She is sadly missed and deeply loved by her daughter Kathleen and granddaughter Colleen.

CORNFLAKE DELIGHT

8-ounces whipped cream topping
2 cups cornflakes
1 quart peaches, drained
½ cup toasted coconut

Mix whipped cream topping and cornflakes together. Pour half into bowl, add half of the peaches and the other half of the topping. Top with remaining peaches. Sprinkle with toasted coconut. Serve.

This is a quick and easy dessert. My mom often made it in the springtime as mom works hard puts in long hours in her six greenhouses, which are full of beautiful blooming flowers. Something quick and easy is always on the menu.

Happy Mother's Day, Mom!

MAMA'S CORNBREAD DRESSING

4-5 cups cornbread, crumbled
2 cups cooked rice
1 cup chopped celery
1½ cups milk
½ cup butter, melted
½ cup chopped green onion tops
¾ cups chopped white onion
2 cups chicken broth
3 large eggs, well beaten
Salt and black pepper to taste

For cornbread:

1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup sifted flour
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 large egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup shortening

Combine dry ingredients. Add egg, milk, and shortening. Beat with egg beater until smooth. Do not overbeat. Bake in a greased 8-inch pan at 425 degrees for 20-25 minutes.

For dressing:

Combine all ingredients and bake in a greased casserole at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until lightly browned. This is a light, moist dressing so don't overbake.

This can be made ahead of time and frozen (thaw before baking). Or, if there is leftover dressing, it may be frozen then reheated in the microwave oven.

This is a recipe created by my late mother during the Great Depression. She substituted cooked rice for bread since store bought bread was used only for making sandwiches for my father's lunches. Rice was plentiful and inexpensive in my home state of Louisiana where rice is a major crop. After I grew up, I had the foresight to write it down before it died with her.

KATIE'S POTATO FASTNACHTS

1½ cups granulated sugar
3 eggs
½ cup butter
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk (scald & cool)
2 small potatoes (boil and mash and add enough water to the potatoes to measure 2 cups)
1 cake yeast
Flour (about 12 cups)

Beat sugar, salt, eggs, and margarine in large pan. Add potato water, milk, and yeast that has been dissolved in ¼ cup lukewarm water. Add flour so the dough can be handled. Let stand in warm place overnight. In the morning knead dough lightly, let rise for about 45 minutes. Roll out, cut into doughnuts and let rise 3½ hours. Fry in hot fat (375-400 degrees) until brown. Turn carefully—do not puncture with fork.

This is a recipe for my mom's (Katie Dreibellis) "faasnachte." She is 80-years-old and still bakes them for Shrove Tuesday. She also loves to quilt. She also likes flowers and gardening, but that is slowing down. She also helped our 86 year-old dad (Lloyd) dig dandelions for weeks leading up to Easter, which were sold at the local meat market.

She has three children, Marlene, Leona, and Malcolm; five grandchildren; and six grandchildren.

I would like to make a special tribute to my mom, Melanie J. Macknair. My mom would do anything for me and my family. She has been there for me time and time again. She is also a great farm wife, secretary, cook, and best of all a great mother. My grandma, Lorraine Miller, also deserves a special tribute for raising such a great daughter. I love you both very much. Happy Mother's Day, Mom and Grandma.

ORANGE PECAN GEMS

1 package orange cake mix
1 egg
8-ounce container low-fat vanilla yogurt
2 tablespoons butter, softened
1 cup finely chopped pecans
1 cup pecan halves

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease cookie sheets. Combine cake mix, yogurt, egg, butter, and 1 cup chopped pecans in large bowl. Mix at low speed with mixer. Drop by rounded teaspoons onto sheet. Press pecan half onto center of cookie. Bake for 11 to 13 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 1 minute. Remove to cooling rack.

My mom is always looking for new recipes to serve her welcomed guests. She has served people from around the world as she has spent 11 years on the mission field. Her themes include many and one is tropical. With these moist cookies, she serves a tropical sherbert. It's delicious.

CORNSTARCH PIE

3 eggs
1½ cups sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 heaping tablespoons cornstarch
5-6 cups milk
2 baked 9-inch pie crusts
Graham crackers, crushed

In saucepan, bring milk to a boil. Meanwhile, mix eggs, sugar, and cornstarch well and add to milk. On medium heat, stir constantly until thick. Remove and add vanilla. Pour into pie crusts and sprinkle graham crackers on top. Cool.

May also be eaten as a pudding without the crust.

This is an old pie recipe my mom got from her mother, Vernie Bennett. Mom carried on the cornstarch pie tradition after Grandma died. It is a favorite.

SWEETHEART PUDDING

2 cups crushed pineapple
½ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
6-ounces cream cheese
2 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons cherry juice
1 cup whipping cream
12 maraschino cherries

Dissolve gelatin in cold water. Add pineapple to sugar. Bring to boiling point and add gelatin. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon and cherry juice. Cool. Mash cream cheese and add chopped cherries. Combine with pineapple mixture, adding a small amount at a time. Chill until slightly thickened. Whip cream and blend with salad mixture. Mold and chill. Serves 8. May garnish with cherries.

This is a delightful dessert that our family enjoys and it reminds us of Mom's (Esther Ober) favorit color, red. She is a great cook, providing many, many terrific meals and special treats over the years.

In addition, she has a remarkable "green thumb."

Mom has been a special beam of support with her prayers, kind deeds, and just being there over the years, and especially during this last year. This is a special thanks for everything from the bottom of my heart.

I love you (and dad) very much! Happy Mother's Day!

MOWING BASICS

For millions of Americans, the primary rite of spring is mowing their lawn and then becomes four months of weekend labor.

Mowing may be a thankless chore, but it reaps benefits if done correctly, says Peter Landschoot, associate professor of turfgrass science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"Those who want a nice lawn often are overly concerned with fertilizing and watering," he says. "But proper mowing also is an important step toward obtaining strong, vigorous grass that resists disease and weeds."

Here's a few basics:

• Check your mower blades. You want to cut precise, clean cut. If you haven't had your blade sharpened in a year or two, it probably needs it.

• Many lawn and garden centers sharpen blades or buy an extra blade and put it on while the original is being sharpened — that way you can change the blade halfway through the season.

• Make sure your mower is adjusted to the proper height. Two to three inches is ideal. You're not saving yourself time by cutting your grass shorter. Actually a lawn mowed shorter than two inches is more susceptible to heat, disease and drought stress.

• Use this rule of thumb to plan your mowing height, you shouldn't take off more than one-third of the leaf blade at one time. Otherwise, you may scalp the grass and make it more vulnerable to stress.

• A lawn's growth rate determines how often you mow. During spring it may require mowing more than one time a week. By June, gwoth slows down so you won't need to mow as often. During dry, hot conditions, there's usually no need to mow because the grass is growing extremely slowly.

• Sometimes prolonged periods of rain make it impossible to mow. In that case, when the sun comes out, cut the grass with the mower blade at its highest setting. You can mow again a few days later with the blade lowered to the desired height.

Should grass clippings be left on the lawn or composted? An estimated 20 percent of what goes into landfills is yard debris such as tree leaves, hedge prunings, and grass clippings. Recycling grass clippings is not only civic-minded, but it's also beneficial to the lawn and saves the work involved in raking or bagging. Contact your Extension office for information on "recycling" grass clippings and backyard composting.

If you leave the clippings on the lawn, you can cut down on fertilizer needs by as much as one-third. Clippings break down easily, releasing nitrogen and other nutrients back into the soil.

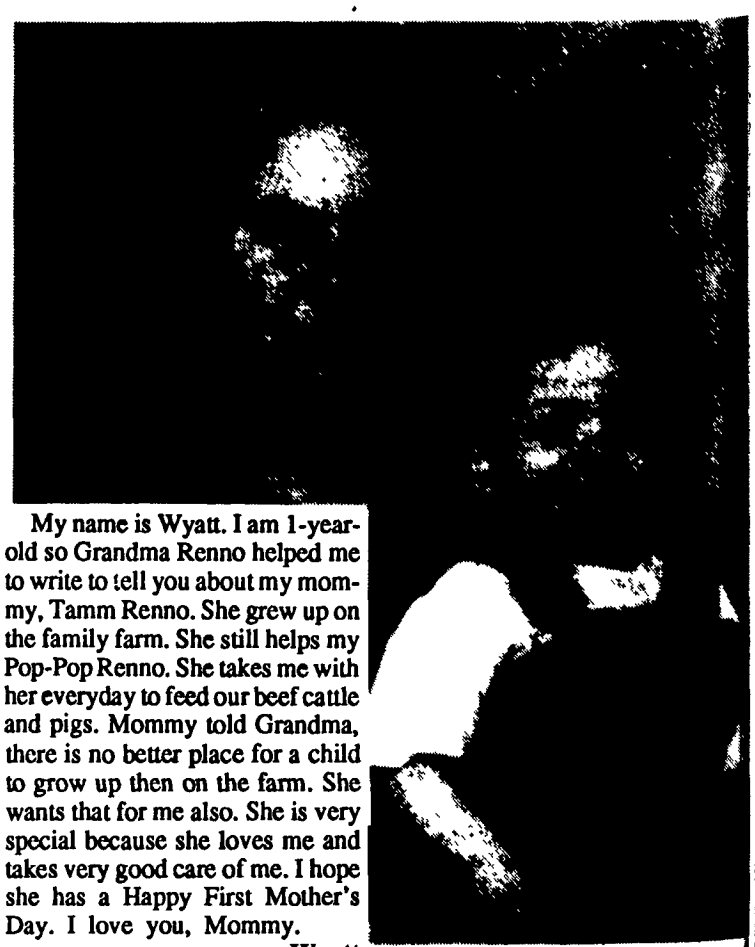
"I LOVE YOU" MOM



My name is Wyatt. I am 1-year-old so Grandma Renno helped me to write to tell you about my mommy, Tamm Renno. She grew up on the family farm. She still helps my Pop-Pop Renno. She takes me with her everyday to feed our beef cattle and pigs. Mommy told Grandma, there is no better place for a child to grow up then on the farm. She wants that for me also. She is very special because she loves me and takes very good care of me. I hope she has a Happy First Mother's Day. I love you, Mommy.

2 pounds ground pork
2 cups graham cracker crumbs
½ cup milk
3 eggs
Mix and pour over top:
1 can tomato soup
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup vinegar
½ cup water
½ teaspoon dry mustard
Bake at 325 degrees for 2 hours.

This recipe is from my mom, Alice K. Harris, who passed away June 1996. It is a family tradition I carry on for my family at Easter.

A sneak preview of these "moo" prizes shown by Lou Ann Good should get you in the "mood" to enter Lancaster Farming's annual Dairy Recipe Drawing.

To Enter Dairy Recipe Drawing Get In The 'Mood'

June Dairy Month is almost here. That means it is time to enter Lancaster Farming's annual Dairy Recipe Drawing.

To enter the drawing, select your favorite recipe, which must include a substantial amount of at least one dairy product. Dairy ingredients include milk, cream, sour cream, whipped cream, butter, yogurt, buttermilk, dry milk, ice cream, and any hard and soft cheeses. Please check your recipe carefully. Margarine and non-dairy substitutes such as whipped topping do not qualify as dairy products.

Dairy recipes are needed for appetizers, soups, breads, entrees, vegetables, desserts, beverages, snacks, and salads.

Clearly print or type your recipe. Be sure to give accurate measurements, temperatures, times, and sizes of baking dishes to use. We reserve the right to disqualify entries if these guidelines are not followed.

The difference between this contest and the weekly recipes is that you are asked to include a few paragraphs about yourself and your family. Although it is not required, a photograph of your family adds a wonderful touch to accompany the printed submission. Photos will be returned it you write your name and address on the back of the photo.

Only one entry per family allowed. This contest is for adults, not children. Send your recipe, photo, and accompanying information with your complete address to Lou Ann Good, Lancaster Farming Cow Mania Drawing, P.O. Box 609, 1 E. Main St., Ephrata, PA 17522. If we do not have your complete address, we can not mail your prize.

Send entries immediately. Envelopes must be postmarked by June 1 to be eligible for the drawing.

Winners will be selected through a drawing and will be sent a prize with a cow motif. Winners will be announced in the June 27th issue.

Kutztown Festival

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) – Authentic Pennsylvania Dutch farming and gardening techniques will be demonstrated at the annual Kutztown Pennsylvania-German Festival on the Kutztown Fairgrounds in Kutztown, from June 27 through July 5. New for 1998 to complement the antique farm equipment displays are antique cars, trucks and wagons loaned to the Festival by the Boyertown (Pennsylvania) Museum of Historic Vehicles.

The Old Time Plow Boys provide daily demonstrations of plow, cultivating, shingle milling, corn grinding, and grain threshing. The Plow Boys preserve the antique farming equipment and methods which are an integral part of Pennsylvania's fascinating farming heritage. The group hosts the Festival's antique tractor pull contests on June 28 and July 5. They also sponsor a children's pedal-tractor contest and old-fashioned children's games like the hay bale toss, potato picking and corn shelling, so the young ones can have the hands-on experience of what it was really like to be a kid in the "olden days" in Colonial times when 80 percent of the population tilled the soil to produce its sustenance.

Today, less than 2 percent of Pennsylvanians produce the agricultural yield to sustain a population of more than 225,000,000. This dramatic change came about through automation and continually improved farm machinery.

For a free brochure and information about the Kutztown Pennsylvania-German Festival, call toll free (888) 674-6136 and visit the Festival's Web site at http://people.delphi.com./Kutztown/

Food, Floral, Decorating Flair Dominates House Tour

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — The 11th annual Kitchen Kaper Tulip Tour offered something for every taste. From primitive to contemporary furnishings, from Shee crab soup to mushroom pizza, and from potted annuals to miniature floral arrangements, the recent tour was a showcase of ideas for decorating, gardening, and entertaining.

Each home had been decorated for the occasion by local florists. Local restauranteurs served food specialties to tour participants.

The 1795 Georgian-style sandstone house owned by Dave and Bonnie Harvey has had a complete makeover within the past year.

The hard work has produced a handsome, upscale bed and breakfast called the Kimmell House. The result is a tribute to the decorating skills of Bonnie, a former gift shop owner and interior designer. She sewed all the window treatments, dust ruffles, and pillow tops. She also removed the wallpaper, sanded and painted the walls of the expansive house, and selected the furnishings.

Each of the bedrooms has a unique charm. The Shaker room's walls have a rolled rag finish, the Colonial room has a fireplace with a seating area, and the English Country room offers twin poster beds, which can be pushed together to form a king-size bed if desired.

Touches reminiscent of the era remain, such as the iron latches on the doors, the large corner cupboard with "cross and Bible" doors, and built-in butterfly shelves.

Inglenook Remembrances Dolls by Eleanor Burns match the decor and era of each room. Each doll is a one-of-a-kind made specially for the Kimmell House. Each doll is named and uniquely dressed with special touches such as 150-year-old ribbons, pillow ticking, linen, and lace fabrics, and scarves from old crochet.

Bonnie makes her own potpourri and the wreaths.

Bonnie said the many and varied gifts of extended family members were utilized during the renovations. These included a landscaper and engineer to figure out the technical ends.

A gracious, soft-spoken hostess, Bonnie delights in selecting from one of the seven sets of dishes she has to serve a full breakfast. On the day of the tour, Esbenshade's Greenhouse had a floral centerpiece of irises, roses, lilacs, and trailing ivy set off with individual flower settings of violets, and fresh rose petals scattered across the tablecloth.

Bonnie said that overnight guests can dine in the former dining room or the patio. Guests are also served an afternoon tea in the keeping room by the fire during the wintertime or on the secluded brick patio during balmy weather.

Serving shee crab soup and a fettucine casserole to tour participants was the Black Horse Restaurant and Tavern.

Rates for the Kimmell House range from $75-$95. For more information or reservations, call Bonnie at (717) 738-3555.

The Farbo Home at 1156 W. Main St. is considered the oldest documented Amish house in the county. Serving as guides throughout the homes, members from the Ephrata Woman's Club pointed out the interesting features in each home.

Owned by James and Patty Farbo, the stone house has original woodwork thoughout, random-width floor boards, thumb latches on all doors, and an Indian door in the kitchen.

In addition to the historical significance of the house, the extensive collection of artwork attracted great interest. Many primitive wood carvings, paintings by local artists, and "tramp art," which are drawings done by tramps in exchange for a meal, are displayed throughout the house.

An unattached summer kitchen in back of the Farbo House had a wonderful display of antiques and primitives.

Java 'n' Sweets provided an assortment of flavored coffees, cheeses, and crackers.

Crowds of people line up in front of the Farbo House during the 11th annual Kitchen Kaper Tulip Tour. The tour sponsored by the Ephrata Women's Club is a showcase of ideas for decorating, gardening, and entertaining.

Bonnie Harvey, a former gift shop owner and interior designer, and her husband Dave, an engineer, did all the work on the 1795 Georgian sandstone house. Bonnie sewed all the window treatments, dust ruffles, and pillow tops to color coordinate with purchased quilts. This is the Colonial room, one of three bedrooms offered to guests.

A variety of decorating tastes were shown in newer homes such as that of the Barry and Nadinne Kreider, John and Gail Witwer, Reuben and Gail Horning, and Gerald and Jill Hartranft. Many of these homes demonstrated how antiques can be successfully combined with traditional and contemporary furnishings and touches. Ideas for landscaping and room additions prevailed.

Although decorating styles vary and food tastes are individualistic, the annual Tulip Tour holds universal appeal for those searching for new ideas and those who are just curious to see how other people live. Mark your calendar for next year's tour, to be held the fourth Monday of April.

Inglenook Remembrances Dolls by Eleanor Burns match the decor and era of each room, and are one-of-a-kind made specially for the Kimmell House. Each doll is named and uniquely dressed with special touches such as 150-year-old ribbons, pillow ticking, linen, and lace fabrics, and scarves from old crochet. Guests can purchase the dolls.

Each home is decorated for the occasion by local florists. The flowers in Jill Hartranft's home were arranged by Country Lane Florists.

Representatives from Akron Restaurant serve samples of homemade cakes, a specialty of the restaurant, to tour participants.

Rhubarb Fest Set For May 16

INTERCOURSE (Lancaster Co.) — Where can you go for a great family outing, where thousands from across the U.S. turn out to celebrate the coming of a Lancaster County spring — and rhubarb?

It's the 15th Annual Rhubarb Festival, set for Saturday, May 16 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. (rain or shine) at Kitchen Kettle Village. It's a day when everyone dresses and acts just a little bit off beat — a little bit zany. Here you will find a great roster of rhubarb-inspired festivities from the World's Only Rhubarb Race Car Derby (yes the mini dragsters are made of rhubarb stalks and electronically timed for the fastest finish) to the "Best Rhubarb Pie in Lancaster County" Baking Contest, Quilting Bee, Rhubarb Arcade of Games, plus more food than you could ever imagine featuring — rhubarb!

Special guest appearances include the Mummertime Band from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Banjo Jimmy's Band throughout the day. At 1 p.m. the Mummers will lead a Strolling Parade down Pepper Lane (the Village's main street), with over 40 "rhubarb" baton twirlers (the Tinkerbells and members of the Willow Street School of Dance) and the Village's own cast of costumed characters headed by Yummie and Rupert Rhubarb.

On the Gift House porch, author Ken Munroe will sign copies of the newest addition to his popular Sammy & Brian children's mystery series called "Creep Frog." Munroe, who selects Lancaster County locations for all his stories, centers the action in his new novel around Kitchen Kettle Village. Creep Frog marks the seventh novel in this successful series.

At 2 p.m. Lapp Valley Ice Cream will run the "World's Only Foot-Powered Ice Cream Maker" — a beautifully restored 1800s farm treadmill that has been transformed from mule-power to people power. Here, three to four people team up to take 1½ -minute turns walking the treadmill, that turns the crank of a large ice cream maker. Everyone who takes a spin earns a free sample of Lapp Valley Ice Cream (rated one of the richest ice creams in the U.S.).

Then there are the "Four Diamonds" events, where Village employees, friends and neighbors pitchin to help the Four Diamonds Fund that provides care and treatment for children with cancer at the Hershey Medical Center. All day local farm women will hold a sewing bee to produce the annual Four Diamonds Quilt, which will be raffled off latter this summer. Other funds will be raised by the Rhubarb Pie Competition (all entries will be sold by the slice), the sale of Rhubarb Car Derby Kits (which includes two electronically timed runs on the official track), and the Rhubarb Arcade — which will feature a Rhubarb Regatta, Rhubarb Bull's-eye Toss, Rhubarb Pick-up Sticks, Find the Rhubarb in the Haystack, a Which is the Real Rhubarb? game, and the World's One and Only Rhubarb Tree. Red and Green hair-spraying and face-painting will also make the kids' day.

Of course the main attraction at the Rhubarb Fest is the food, beginning with Kitchen Kettle's famous Rhubarb, Raspberry Rhubarb, Strawberry Rhubarb and Bluegarb jams that are sold exclusively at festival time. The jams serve as a delightful ingredient in a collection of festival entrees, desserts, beverages and glazes that will be featured throughout the day. At stands and shops throughout the village visitors can enjoy Strawberry and Plain Rhubarb Pie, Strawberry Rhubarb Cookies, an Almond Rhubarb Pastry as well as Strawberry Rhubarb Coffee Cake. The outdoor grill menu spotlights Rhubarb Glazed Chicken Kabobs, and the Fresh and Simple Drink Stand will feature Strawberry Rhubarb Frost. There's even a kettle-shaped Soft Pretzel served with a Rhubarb Dipping Sauce. The Kling House Restaurant will spotlight rhubarb-inspired dishes for breakfast, lunch and dinner, beginning with Strawberry Rhubarb French Toast and Rhubarb Baked Oatmeal. And don't miss the Strawberry Rhubarb Ripple Fudge at Garrahy's Fudge Kitchen.

A special Master Gardening display will be run by the Penn State Agricultural Extension Service and fresh rhubarb and rhubarb plants will also be sold along with copies of "The Little Book of Rhubarb Recipes."

Founded as a home business in 1954, Kitchen Kettle Village is a major destination where 33 food, furniture and artisan's shops now surround the original Jam and Relish Kitchen.

Kitchen Kettle Village is located on Route 340 in the Village of Intercourse, 10 miles east of Lancaster. All festivals are open to the public free of charge, and plenty of free parking is available on the Village grounds. For more information call or write: Kitchen Kettle Village, Rt. 340, Intercourse, PA 17534. Telephone: (800) 732-3538.

'Logged In Love' Is Handicapped-Accessible Bed And Breakfast

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

NARVON (Lancaster Co.) — "Inky" Ruhl knows what it's like to maneuver a wheelchair around. She knows that handicapped people are sometimes limited to where they can go.

For this reason Inky and her husband "J.R." opened up a Bed and Breakfast in their spacious log home situated on 7½ acres of woodland on two townships—Carnarvon and Brechnock.

Their home is part of the upcoming tour of homes called "Home Is Where the Heart Is," sponsored by Hinkletown Mennonite School. It's the school's third annual tour, which is used for a fundraiser. The tour is on Sunday, from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

"Many people have never been in a log home and are curious to know what it looks like inside," Inky said. "We offered our home to be part of the tour so people can see what it's like."

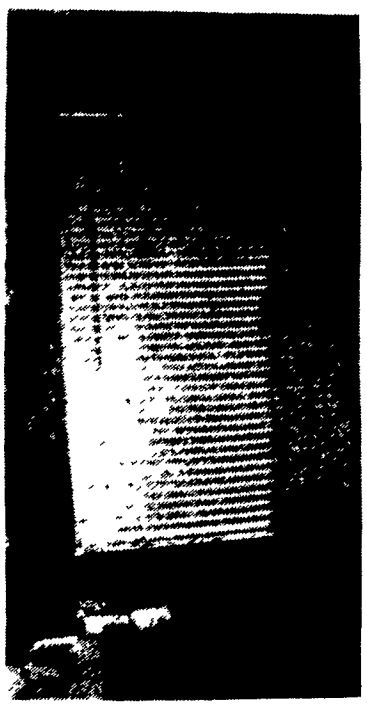
The Ruhls' dream had always been to have a log home. In fact, when they first married, J.R. gave a miniature log home with the promise: This is all I can afford now, but someday I want to built you a real log home.

In 1995, Inky was involved in a serious motorcycle accident, which has required five surgeries and months of physical therapy. Although much better from the accident that broke both bones in her leg and tore the heel off, she has diminished circulation, degenerate arthritis, and other debilitating injuries.

The Ruhls had planned to built a handicapped accessible home because Inky's mother, who had lived with them, used a wheelchair. Unfortunately, her mother died before the house was finished, but by this time, Inky herself was temporarily confined to a wheelchair because of the accident.

They built their log home 2½ years ago with this in mind. It is handicap accessible throughout. The master bedroom has a large bathroom with an 8x8-square foot shower room in which to wheel in wheelchairs. A two-person whirlpool tub is available for therepeutic use.

About a year after the Ruhls moved into the home, they decided to share it with others by operating it as a bed and breakfast.



Because Inky loves bears and hearts she had a friend wood carve tumbling bears and hearts into the woodwork surround the log house windows. None are the same.

In building the home, the Ruhls worked with a company called Lok-N-Logs, using hand-hewn red pine logs in which the bark is removed.

Spacious openness in the 3,000 square foot home features a birch wood kitchen with an adjacent dining area and a sitting area.

J.R. has worked for Armstrong Industries for 27 years, and put his expertise in tile to use by having the bathroom tiled with a large pink heart surrounded by multicolored tiles. J.R. also did the electrical and telephone wiring in the house, no easy task for drilling holes through the hefty logs.

A friend of the family used a wood burning tool to carve in tumbling bears and assorted hearts in the wooden window frame of each window.

"I like bears and hearts—every one is different," Inky said of the rustic carving.

The home is furnished in what Inky calls "Early American junk yard." She said, "The only two new things we have in the house is an oven and dishwasher. Even the Jenn-air stove is a bargain counter buy."

The benefits of living in a log home is that no insulation is needed because the logs are a natural insulator. Eight-inch logs are used outside and split logs are used in the interior. The logs also muffle the noise and are maintenance-free inside. Outside is a different story. The outside walls need to be stained every 3-4 years to prevent insects from burrowing holes.

The Ruhls have no lawn, preferring the natural wooded setting. Guests can sit on the roofed porch and see birds, squirrels, chipmunks, and deer. A stream is also stocked for avid fishers.

Inky is from the city. "I'd never go back again. I love it here," she said of the secluded wooded area where wildlife abounds.

"We had our drinking water tested and were told it's better than most bottled water," J.R. said.

In addition to the master bedroom, three bedrooms with full baths are furnished with phone and remote control colored television for guests.

The Ruhls have three adult children, seven grandchildren, and a dog Jasmine, which is a Keshourd and mixed Black Lab.

The Ruhls offer a made-to-order breakfast. A printed menu allows guests to circle extensive choices such as a variety of juices and hot beverages, homemade doughnuts, pastries, and bread from Amish neighbors. A variety of cold cereals and baked oatmeal, scrambled eggs, French toast, ham or sausage is served.

"The only three 'no's' in our home are no smoking, no pets, and no children 12 years or younger," J.R. said.

Guests do not need to be handicapped to spend the night in the Ruhls' Logged With Love home.

The home sets up on hill, which has its advantages and disadvantages. While it offers a great view, winter weather encompasses a hard-to-maneuver driveway in which even a tractor is known to get stuck.

Despite Inky's injuries, the couple remain motorcycle enthusiasts. They travel by cycle with a group called the Retreads, which Inky describes as "recycled teenagers" over 40 years of age. The Ruhls have toured 34 states and five Canadian provinces on cycles.

In addition to the Ruhls' home located at 2262 Laurel Road, Narvon, the following homes are opened for tour:

Ray and Gloria Boll, 147 Sheaffer School Rd., Ephrata; Sam & Nancy Russell, 148 E. Farmersville Rd., Ephrata; Hinkletown Mennonite School, 272 Wanner Rd., Ephrata; George & Susan Manderbach, 1400 Landis Rd., Ephrata; John and Lois Nolt, 1061 Steffy Rd., Stevens; The Artist's Inn & Gallery, 117 E. Main St., Terre Hill; Voneida Mill, corner of Voneida St. and Reading Road; and John and Mae Weaver, 160 Boulder Hill Road, Mohnton.

Tickets will also be available at the school the day of the tour. Proceeds will benefit Hinkletown Mennonite School. No children or cameras will be permitted on the tour. Persons taking the tour are encouraged to wear comfortable walking shoes.

Hinkletown Mennonite School is located at 272 Wanner Road, one-half mile north of Route 322 in Hinkletown. For more information on the tour, call the school at (717) 354-6705.

Beware Of Hantavirus

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Spring is upon us and the urge to clean cabins for the summer is growing stronger.

This year, with the death of two Pennsylvania residents from the Hantavirus, there is cause to be careful but not panicked. The cases, both in the Allentown area, were the first reported in the state.

Activities that put you in contact with rodent droppings, urine or nesting materials, such as opening up a camp or cleaning out buildings, could put you at some risk. Avoid touching rodent droppings and actions that would raise dust when cleaning.

The Hantavirus was first found in the Four Corners area of the southwest in 1993 when several young adults complained of acute respiratory distress and about half of them died. The virus has been confirmed in the deaths of 179 individuals in the last five years. Several species of wild rodents such as the deer mouse and the white-footed mouse have been linked to the virus. Contact with the virus-infected rodent urine, droppings or saliva could make you sick.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has a number of recommendations for prevention and control. They are simple precautions that most of us already follow in cleaning our homes and areas where rodents may have been.

First, exclude rodents from cabins and camps by blocking holes and filling cracks. Wash all dishes and utensils with hot soapy water and store your food in rodent proof containers. Air out buildings before you start cleaning and wear rubber gloves. Spray all materials or surfaces (wet thoroughly) where droppings and urine are suspected with a general purpose disinfectant; for larger areas, use a 10 percent household laundry bleach solution (1½ cups of bleach per gallon of water). Pick up the wet material with a damp towel and mop or wipe area with disinfectant. Bury, burn, or dispose of your cleaning materials in a proper manner. Disinfect your gloves before removing them and then wash your hands with soap and warm water.

The symptoms of the disease are somewhat non-specific and include fever, fatigue, muscle ache, dizziness, nausea or vomiting and may begin in one to five weeks. If symptoms occur, check with your physician and mention that you may have been exposed to rodent contamination. While there have only been two cases in Pennsylvania, more than 40 percent of the individuals who have contracted the virus nationwide have died. If you have any questions whatsoever about this virus, contact the CDC at the National Center for Infectious Diseases Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 1600 Clifton Road, NE Atlanta, GA 30333, (800) 532-9929. Internet address: http://www.cdc.gov/ncidod/diseases/hanta or your local health department. The CDC's materials are detailed and easy to understand and their web page has clear and current information.

The disease is rare, but it is important that people are aware of the potential when the urge for spring cleaning hits.

Apple Festival Blooms Without Blossoms

JINNY WILT
Adams Co. Correspondent

ARENDTSVILLE (Adams Co.) — Adams County's apple blossoms couldn't wait this year for the festival held in their honor.

El Nino prodded them into bloom several weeks ago.

So when the festival was held May 2-3 at the South Mountain Fairgrounds near Arendtsville the blossoms were well done blooming.

Said Larry Hull, scientist-in-charge at Penn State's Fruit Research and Extension Center in Biglerville, "They are way ahead of schedule thanks to El Nino. This is one of the earliest seasons anybody can remember. We're two to three weeks ahead of normal."

Apple growers are trying to thin the apple crop, but are not sure when to do it this year because it is "unusually early and they could over thin," Hull said.

While it's too early to tell what kind of a crop will ultimately be harvested, Hull said he doesn't believe it will be as big as last year's.

"We had the drought and a heavy crop in 1997,& he said.

The rain of the past few weeks is also creating a potential problem. "The warm and rainy weather is great for disease development," Hull said.

"If you are a plant pathologist you love it, if you are an entomologist you don't," he added.

The 43rd annual Apple Blossom Festival was also affected by the rainy weather. Showers hit the area during the two-day event. Attendance was estimated between 10,000 and 12,000 people.

Sponsored by the Adams County Fruit Growers Association, the fairgrounds were filled with craft dealers and food vendors as well as activities such as a petting zoo and face painting for children.

Shannon Shelleman, daughter of Frances Lawver and a student at Gettysburg High School, was chosen 1998 Adams County Apple Queen.

First runner-up was Becky Benner, daughter of James and Beverly Benner, a student at Fairfield High School, and second runner-up was Sara Heller, daughter of Harold and Linda Heller, a student at Biglersville High School.

Pheromones Help Growers 'Make A Date' With Honey Bees

WOOSTER, Ohio – Do you need more honey bees in your blossoms? New chemicals may be just the "pick-up line" you need to get honey bees interested in your orchard.

Ohio State University scientists Jim Tew and Dave Ferree have been experimenting with synthetic pheromone attractants and how they can increase the pollination from flowers to fruit trees.

Honey bees are the most common source for pollinating everything from flowers to fruit trees. Growers are now seeing the number of honey bees in their fields and orchards decrease. Varroa and tracheal mite infestations have wiped out much of the wild honey bee population. The decline has been so brutal that wild honey bees have become ineffective pollination forces.

Flowers and blossoms are billboards to the insect world. They're banners used by the plant to attract potential pollinators. All plants have them, though they differ in appearance.

Tew, associate professor in the Honey Bee Lab at Wooster, said, "No one puts corn tassels in a vase. Why? Because they're not as flashy as a rose or carnation – and they don't need to be. Corn is a wind pollinator – it doesn't require honey bees or other insects for pollination. Apple trees, however, are another story."

In the early 1980s, there was interest in using attractants to lure honey bees to target crops. "Today, because of smaller numbers of honey bees, we're evaluating the effects of honey bee attractants in apple orchards," Tew said. "The attractants bring the bees to the blossoms."

Honey bees use chemical cues for survival. "Bee hives are pitch black, extremely crowded and remain between 95 and 98 degrees Fahrenheit. It's a dark, hot, close world we can't even imagine," Tew said. "In that world, chemical cues are extremely important – foods, workers, queen, drones and larvae all possess their own chemical identification markers."

Tew said having a market that extends from the colony to the foraging world, where they gather nectar, isn't surprising. And that is the tool used to make the chemical configuration for a synthetic honey bee pheromone.

ponents of the secretion bees use to determine forage patterns. The companies imitated the marker using the nasonov pheromone. The chemical is then placed on target crops – like apple trees – and will attract honey bees to the area.

Tew said honey bees can probably memorize two to three blossom types at one time. "There's such a large variety of blooms in the world, and it's important apple trees don't get overlooked as bees head out of the hive in search of food."

By using the chemical cue markers in an orchard, scientists can make sure apple trees are on the bees' list of "great restaurants."

ANSWER — Linda of Carlisle wanted information on Schenck's Mill covered bridge located on the Chickes Creek, Lancaster Co. Thanks to Anna Mary Rohrer, East Berlin, for sending information on the bridge, built in 1855. Linda wanted to know if a mill was originally located at the bridge. How did it get the name Schenck's Mill? If it was named after Schenck's, what is the first names of the people? According to the information from Anna Mary, the house of the miller is still standing with the date stone (in German) stating that it was built by Johann Schenck and Barbara Schenck in 1803. The remains of the milldam are in back of the house. Near the bridge on the upstream side is a barn built on the mill foundations—the most colorful stones ever seen by bridge researchers. The bridge itself is unusual for the county. It has horizontal-clapboard siding, four rectangular windows with wooden awnings on its east-bank end.

ANSWER — Sallie Jo Nailor, Enola, writes that she has a copy of the red Spry cookbook that Jean Imm of Reisterstown wanted. She will send it to Jean if she sends her address to her at 474 Sample Bridge Rd., Enola, PA 17025.

ANSWER — Maralee Chaffee, LaRayesville, is desperate to rid their house and lawn of crickets in the fall. They usually last two months, at least, until the first killing frost in Oct. In the fall, the Chaffees have millions of crickets in the yard, which becomes literally black with big black, juicy crickets. Hundreds are killed with each step to the clothesline. The crickets come into the house each night and the family kills hundreds each morning when they wake up. The family is planning a fall outdoor wedding for one of their children. Do they spray now to kill the eggs in the ground before they hatch or must they wait until fall to spray malathion and hope the crickets eat it and die?

Salome Stoltzfus recommends this homemade remedy: Mix together: 1 cup ammonia, ½ cup Palmolive dishwasing soap, ¼ cup castor oil, ½ cup human urine. Mix together and spray around the edges of the lawn and garden. Pests can't stand the smell of it. Be sure you don't omit the last ingredient. It is a must.

For an instant insect preventer, mix 1 teaspoon liquid Palmolive dishwashing soap to every quart water. Spray on everything, trees, lawn, vegetables, and fruit trees.

For more natural remedies, subscribe to "On the Garden Line," P.O. Box 1001, Wixom, MI 48393 c/o Jerry Baker.

People are always telling me that good old fashioned public sales just don't happen anymore I always agree, of course I can remember a few that I d love to sell over again Even so, every auctioneer hopes for just one more before the Lord slams the book shut He longs for a glimpse of the amber dust that rises from the silent threshing floor to be revealed in a narrow shaft of sunlight as it slices thru a crack in the barn door He wants to smell the pungent odor of wood stove ashes left to grow cold and damp in the musty kitchen of an old stone farm house And now, in the Spring, he delights in the wild violets that dare to dance with the dandelion in the back yard by the well, somehow knowing that every steel blade on the place is rusty and still Dream on! There will be more!

National Trail Day June 6

CLEONA (Lebanon Co.) — A day to ride, walk, or run and show your appreciation for American's trails, National Trail Day, is scheduled June 6 at 10 a.m. at the Lawn Fire Company grounds. From the grounds, on Rt. 241 between Elizabethtown and Lebanon, you can access the trail. You decide the direction and time you want to take for a day of having fun.

The event will be held sun or fair weather only.

Field Cultivators Ease Pre-Plant Incorporation

ATLANTA, Ga. — Agco Glencoe offers two new three-point, mounted field cultivator/incorporators — the FC870 and FC875. Both units are designed with ultra-high vibration tines to more effectively incorporate preplant chemicals into the soil while preparing a smooth, level seedbed.

Rigid FC870 frame or hydraulic-fold FC875 frame designs have working widths covering 10, 12, 14 and 19 feet on rigid units and 19 and 22 feet on the hydraulic folding style.

The FC870 and FC875 feature four ranks spaced 17 inches apart on a 2- x 2-inch bar. A 4-inch shank spacing with 16 inches between adjacent shanks insures optimum soil and residue flow. The ultra-high vibration tines can be ordered with a choice of points or shovels. Reversible points and 2¼ -, 4- or 7-inch sweeps are available.

Dual, floating 12-inch rolling baskets with spiral blades finish incorporation while also firming the seedbed. The rolling baskets are supported by flexible spring loaded mounting arms.

The FC870, shown, and FC875 are the newest additions to Agco Glencoe's full line of field cultivators. The two new machines, available in 10 feet, 4 inches to 22-foot widths, were designed to effectively incorporate chemicals while preparing a smooth seedbed.

Additional features include gauge wheels, with turnbuckle or pin-type adjustments on the rigid units. Turnbuckle adjustment is standard on the folding units. Gauge wheels can be repositioned outside tractor duals with an optional extension kit.

Haas Named To USB International Marketing Committee

ST. LOUIS, Mo. – Willard Haas of Klingerstown, Pa., was one of 59 soybean farmer-directors to attend the annual board of directors' meeting of the United Soybean Board (USB) in St. Louis recently.

"Serving on the soybean checkoff board requires a strong personal commitment. You have to be dedicated to promoting and growing the market share of U.S. soybeans," said Haas, who was appointed to the USB's International Marketing Committee. "I am willing to voluntarily serve the checkoff program to increase the U.S. soybean market domestically and internationally, improve the production of soybeans, and develop new uses for soybeans."

During the meeting, the board discussed and outlined directions for the soybean checkoff-funded programs, including budget decisions regarding research, marketing, and communications projects. The USB invests checkoff funds to benefit U.S. soybean producers by creating an environment within which farmers can maximize profits through increased utilization and improved soybean production efficiencies.

There are 29 soybean-producing states represented on the USB's board of directors. Programs supported by the board include international and domestic marketing or soybeans development of new uses for soybeans, and research projects to support efficient, higher quality, and profitable soybean production.

In addition to budget and project decision, directors were assigned to USB committees and fiscal year 1998 officers were elected.

The 1998 executive committee members are Byron Lemoine, Hamburg, La., chairman; Bob Eilts, Central City, Neb., Vice Chairman; Richard Borgsmiller, Murphysboro, Ill., Treasurer; Jay Franklin, Vinita, Okla., Secretary; Doug Magnus, Slayton, Minn., International Marketing Committee chairman; David Durham, Hardin, Mo., Domestic Marketing chairman; Gary Parker, Moran, Kan., New Uses Committee chairman; Earl Hendrix, Raeford, N.C., Production Committee chairman; Jay Franklin, Vinita, Okla., Producer Communications chairman; Don Latham, Alexander, Iowa, Trade Analysis Committee chairman; and Bob Eilts, Central City, Neb., Audit and Evaluation Committee chairman.

Of the 59 producer-directors, five of the directors are newly appointed: Charles Friedrich, Aurora, S.D.; Horman Husa, Barneston, Neb.; Roy Loudenslager, Marion, Ind.; Curtis Raasch, Odebolt, Iowa; and Donald Reifel, Fowler, Ind. Each directors' terms are for three years, except for Friedrich, who is filling a vacant two-year term.

Company Offers Lice Brochure

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. — A practical approach to controlling and preventing lice outbreaks is outlined in a new Fort Dodge Animal Health brochure, "Effective Lice Control: Management Practices for the U.S. Cattle Producer."

This free brochure illustrates how proper lice control can enhance animal health and improve profitability.

"Fort Dodge Animal Health encourages an integrated approach to lice control that combines all the components of proper livestock management — from facilities and nutrition to proper timing and treatment of animals," said Dr. Bill Clymer, livestock parasitologist with Fort Dodge. Lice infestations on cattle are easiest to detect at their peak from late winter to early spring. Hair loss, rubbing, skin irritation, and anemia are obvious signs seen at this time.

The brochure focuses on five species of biting and sucking lice that pose a potential threat to the U.S. cattle industry. The cattle biting louse Bovicola (Damalinia) bovis and four species of sucking lice including: short-nosed cattle louse (Haematopinus eurysternus), long-nosed cattle louse (Linognathus vituli), little blue cattle louse (Solenopotes capillatus) and cattle tail louse (Haematopinus quadripertusus) are featured. Articles in the brochure explain the life cycles of the lice, provide tips on how to identify infestations and compare various treatment and control options.

Call Fort Dodge toll-free at 1-888-DEWORM-1 (1-888-339-6761).

New Holland Launches New Tractor Range

NEW DELHI, India — New Holland N.V. announced the launch of the first model in the company's new range of tractors specifically tailored to the Indian market.

The tractors are being produced in the company's newest manufacturing facility, located near New Delhi. An engineering center has been in operation since May 1996, and the manufacturing center commenced limited assembly recently.

A network of independent dealers has been established in those regions where agricultural practices will most benefit from the company's new high horsepower tractors. In total, New Holland expects to invest approximately $80 million in the company's Indian operations.

"India is critical to New Holland's continued leadership and long term growth in the agricultural tractor industry," Franco Fusignani, vice president for business development, commented. "For 25 years, our Ford-branded tractor led the industry in India. New Holland is back. Once again, we intend to set the standard for quality, performance, and durability. We hope to be an important contributor to the development of the Indian economy by putting our agricultural engineering resources to work for the Indian farmer."

The launch of the new range is another example of the success of New Holland's Global Product Line organization. Led by the company's New Delhi engineering center, the design team includes key engineers in New Holland's Modena, Italy, and Basildon, England tractor engineering groups. The three nation team has full responsibility for the entire range of products to be manufactured in the New Delhi plant.

Hybrids To Reduce Phosphorus Content

DES MOINES, Iowa — Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc., announced it has developed hybrids that will significantly reduce phosphorus content in animal waste.

Grain used as feed from the hybrids could cut nearly in half the potential water quality impact of phosphorus in poultry and swine manure. This reduction is achieved by lowering the amount of phytic acid in the corn.

Phytic acid stores phosphorus in a form unusable by poultry and swine. When the animal eats regular corn, the unused phosphorus is excreted in the manure and can potentially enter waterways.

The new hybrids, scheduled for sale by Pioneer in 2000, are the result of a collaborative effort between Pioneer and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Pioneer will sell the hybrids to farmers, who will sell the grain from these hybrids into markets developed by Optimum Quality Grains L.L.C., the joint venture recently formed by Pioneer and DuPont.

"We are very excited about the benefits of this grain trait," said Dick Reasons, president and CEO of Optimum.

Low phytic acid hybrids were cited as a significant part of a new clean water initiative announced by President Clinton on Feb. 19.

"This is a great example of how collaborative efforts will bring important new genetics to bear on environmental and food security issues," said Dr. Richard McConnell, senior vice president and director of worldwide research for Pioneer. "This is only the tip of the iceberg. We are working to include low phytic acid, along with other important traits, such as better nutrition for animals, into corn hybrids. Those hybrids will offer improved value to livestock and poultry producers, and ultimately, that value will be shared by consumers as well."

Said McConnell, "Of all the technology available, our ability to increase the productivity of farmers, while helping them to improve their stewardship of the environment, is made possible primarily through genetic improvement technology."

Genex And Cooperative International Report Strong Fiscal Year

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. — Over 200 delegates and friends gathered for the Genex/CRI annual meeting on March 16-17, at the Holiday Inn Arena in Binghamton, N.Y. CRI Chief Executive Officer Tom Lyon reported a strong financial year for Genex. Genex/CRI Chief Operating Officer Bruce Bean reported that Genex achieved an operating profit of nearly $700,000.

At the meeting, the Genex Board of Directors elected its slate of officers for 1998-1999. The newly-elected president is Dave Hileman, Tyrone, Pa. Hileman replaces retiring president Skip Jensen of Penn Yan, New York. Elected vice president is Joseph Greenbacker from Durham, Conn., while secretary is Lanny Conerly from Kentwood, La. The officers, plus Al Wanner Jr. from Narvon, Pa., represent Genex on the Cooperative Resources International Board of Directors.

CRI conotinues to provide industry-leading genetics. Agreements with Holland Genetics and New Zealand's Livestock Improvement Corporation, Ltd. Combined with CRI, create the largest sampling programs and semen marketing with outstanding genetics. "We have every reason to believe that in 1998 Holland Genetics and CRI will become strategically more closely aligned through embryo sales, sire housing and beef programming," Lyon said.

Following the February sire summary, Genex, Noba and 21st century Genetics are number one on average performance for all six dairy breeds in 25 of 30 categories including Net Merit dollars, milk, fat, and protein pounds. In the Holstein breed, CRI leads the industry by 11 percent for Net Merit, 14 percent for pounds of protein and 10 percent for transmitting ability for milk. In the Holstein breed 31 new sires were added to the proven lineup. These additions increased the average Net Merit dollar value of the available proven sires from $160 in 1996 to $176 in 1998. Bean said, "This shows Genex/CRI by far is second to none."

Genex/CRI Board of Directors voted on Monday, March 16, to accept areas of Tennessee as membership territory for Genex/CRI. This follows last year's addition of Virginia and the non-member counties of West Virginia as Genex/CRI membership territory. This was done so that Genex/CRI patrons in those areas would have the opportunity to become more involved in the Cooperative. Changes continue to take place in the dairy industry. CRI continues to help serve producers by positioning itself and its members for the future, seeking ways to maximize efficiencies and better serve producers across the country.

HOUSE FLIES AND MANURE MANAGEMENT IN EGG PRODUCTION

Dr. C. W. Pitts,
Professor of Entomology
The Pennsylvania State University

The fly season is here and it is imperative that we establish, or reestablish, sound fly management programs. Each egg producer should be aware of the importance of controlling house files in their facilities. These include maintaining good sanitation in the egg rooms and being a good neighbor to the non-poultry producing public The relationship with the community is very important to the poultry industry and must be taken seriously.

The spring thaw came early this year and we can proceed with our farm chores. One of the big jobs that faces egg producers is removing and spreading manure. As we have experienced a very mild winter, house fly maggots in many instances are in abundance this spring. As you haul and spread manure, remember to spread it as thinly and evenly as possible, and to plow it under as soon as possible after spreading. Remember, this part of the fly control program is extremely important. Further, this practice will go a long way in establishing good neighbor relations.

The first thing the producer should do is to have a method for sampling the fly population so they can determine if the population is increasing or decreasing. This will allow the producer to evaluate the efficacy of the fly control program. Methods of monitoring populations of adult flies include: fly grids, resting counts, sticky fly paper, baited jug-traps and spot cards. The most useful in animal facilities are resting counts, sticky fly paper, baited jug-traps and spot cards.

Resting counts are done by using pre-designated areas such as portions of walls, beams or ceiling sections. Fly counts are made in these areas each day. Several locations should be used in each house. By doing these counts over time one can measure fly population trends.

Sticky fly papers are available commercially and are also a good means to monitor populations. The flies caught on the sticky paper give a useful index of fly numbers. The sticky paper should be held out from the body and parallel to the floor while walking down the entire length of the house and back again. Count the number of flies caught on the sticky surface and record the number. Do this twice a week and this will give population trends and an indication of when you may need to spray. Also, the flies caught on the paper can be positively identified.

Baited jug-traps are a simple, practical fly monitoring device and can be left in place for up to one week and provide for a continuous sampling of flies. The same trap can be used for the purpose of fly control. The baited jug-trap consists of a 1 gallon plastic milk jug with four holes (3 inches in diameter) cut around the circumference in the upper third of the jug. About 1 tablespoon of bait containing muscalure is placed in the bottom. Flies enter, feed on the bait and die in the jug. The number and species of flies can be determined easily. After one week the bait will loose its effectiveness, so the files and old bait should be dumped and fresh bait added. At least six jug-traps should be used per deep pit layer house. The traps should be put in locations where flies congregate. Further, the traps should be returned to the same location after they are dumped and counts are made. In poultry houses, 350 flies per week has generally been used as the threshold for chemical treatment. However, a lower threshold may be desired when neighbors are close.

Spot cards are simple devices for measuring fly activity. These are 3x5 inch index cards which are fastened flush to pre-determined locations in the house. Flies resting on the spot cards leave light straw-colored regurgitation spots and dark fecal spots. The number of spots per card is easily counted after an exposure period of 3 to 7 days. The placement of cards is important and they must be placed where flies are observed resting, or where fly specks are present. At least 10 cards should be used per house and an index of 50 spots per card has been used as a threshold for chemical treatment.

These simple methods for monitoring fly populations will aid the producer in evaluating the total fly management program. Remember that good fly management starts with good manure management (dry manure) which includes proper ventilation and no leaky watering systems.

Maryland Dairy Scholarship

DICKERSON, Md. — Two $4,000 scholarships are being offered to Maryland Dairy Youth who have/had a Dairy project — all breeds — and are enrolled in a four-year College of Agriculture at a college of choice. The scholarships are available to entering freshman through entering seniors and will be awarded at the Dairy Awards Program at the Maryland State Fair. An applicant is eligible to win the scholarship twice but must reapply each year.

The scholarships are possible due to the generosity of a Friend of 4-H and the Dairy Industry.

Applications may be obtained by contacting Arthur & Peggy Johnson, Chairpersons, at 301-972-8274 or 22520 Mt. Ephraim RD, Dickerson, MD 20842. The applications must be postmarked no later than July 1, and an official academic transcript and recent photo must be attached.

Growing Your Business

I've heard many people say "When a business stops growing, it starts dying".

Stop and think for a moment - is your business (or farm) growing or dying?

If you're not growing, what can you do about it? Many times poor customer service is a factor in poor business performance.

Before any wholesale growers reading this stop - realize that you have customers to please as well. Even if you only deal with a wholesale house or if you sell at the auction you still have customers that need to be satisfied or else your business will start to die as well.

How important do you think customer satisfaction is to your business? I recently read the following statistics: a typical business only hears from four of 100 dissatisfied customers but 91 of these 100 unhappy people never return to the business. One unhappy customer will tell eight to ten people about the problem while one in five will tell up to 20 people about it! In addition, 68% of the customers who stop buying from a business do so because they perceive an attitude of "I don't care" from a manager or employee of the business.

Fortunately, unhappy customers can be encouraged to continue to do business with you. Seventy percent of unhappy customers will do business again if the complaint is resolved in their favor and an incredible 95% of customers will return if the complaint is resolved on the spot. A satisfied customer will tell five people about the problem and how it was resolved.

So what can you do to increase customer satisfaction? First and foremost is the production and sale of a quality product. Whether it is apples or zucchini, you should strive to be selling the freshest and best quality produce possible.

If your zucchini or apples aren't fresher and in better condition than those available in the grocery stores, why will anyone go out of their way to buy your produce? On a wholesale level there are probably many other apple and zucchini producers out there that can fill the buyer's needs. I can't stress enough the importance of only selling the highest quality produce at all times.

A second way to increase customer satisfaction is to be responsive to your customers. This includes having someone able to answer questions such as "Which apple is best for cooking?" or "How should I store this zucchini?".

You also need to have enough people available to help customers so that they don't have to wait too long. Unfortunately, many people feel pressed for time and they won't often wait for help. I recently was in a restaurant where a customer left because service was slow. How much business can you afford to loose this way?

In addition, it may help to sometimes be in the retail area yourself for some part of the day. Part of the reason people shop at a farm market or roadside stand is the "experience" of being on the farm. This includes seeing the farmer and being able to interact with them. I know that there are usually five or six things that need to be done at any one time so why "waste" this time in the market? You have to decide if this option will work for you.

Retailers should also have an attractive sales area. The perception of a sloppy, disorganized store with dirty equipment is that the products sold will also have poor quality. Walk into your sales area and take a good look at what you see. The attitude of your employees also affects a customer's perception.

Smiling, courteous employees will encourage more return visits than someone with a long face that gives the impression that you are "inconveniencing" them to have them help you. Another article I read stated that you should make coming to work full of humor, fun, and joy for employees.

As I mentioned earlier in this article, be sure to resolve customer complaints quickly. If the problem was with poor handling practices on their part, be sure that when they leave that they now know how to handle that item properly. If the problem was caused by an item sold, perhaps the cost of replacing the item will be more than returned thorough return sales. In any case, be sure that the customer leaves satisfied.

Another way to improve your business and improve customer satisfaction is to study and observe other successful businesses. What do they do that you are not? Once you have identified a problem area then improve right away! Don't wait until tomorrow or even worse, next week. Another good point I read is to find something to improve in your business every day.

Satisfying customers requires attention to detail, discipline, and often some hard work. This commitment needs to be from the top down - not just at the management level. If you have happy customers, they will make you happy with return sales. Remember, if you aren't growing, you're dying.

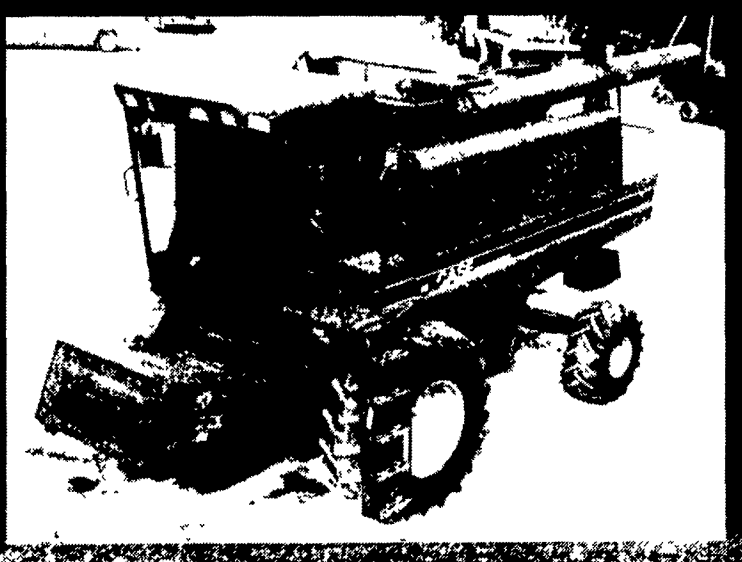
HOOBER MAKES USED AS GOOD AS NEW!

WITH RECONDITIONED CASE IH AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES



USED AS GOOD AS NEW!
Each of Hoober's reconditioned CASE IH Axial-Flow combines comes to you in like-new condition for years of dependable, profitable service with little to no downtime.

3,500 HOURS IS JUST GETTING WARMED UP!
3,500 hours on a conventional combine usually means worn out. But a reconditioned Axial-Flow combine from Hoober, Inc. with 3,500 hours is warmed up.

YOU GET A HIGHER RESALE VALUE!
Because Hoober factory-trained combine technicians have serviced and repaired reconditioned Axial-Flow combines, the combines are superior in performance and dependability. That means they hold their value longer. Which means a higher resale value in the future.

YOU GET GOLD SHIELD PROTECTION!

Quality haymaking

The New Holland Model 1465 Haybine® mower-conditioner features a new header with a five-bat reel for more uniform crop flow. You get a cleaner cut and less scalping in a proven design. And the "1465" can be ordered with a mechanical tongue shift or hydraulic tongue shift. Other great features include:

- A torsion-bar roll-pressure system
- Chevron-design rolls for thorough, gentle conditioning and fast drydown
- 100% bolted knife assemblies

When performance, reliablility and durability count, you can count on the "1465".

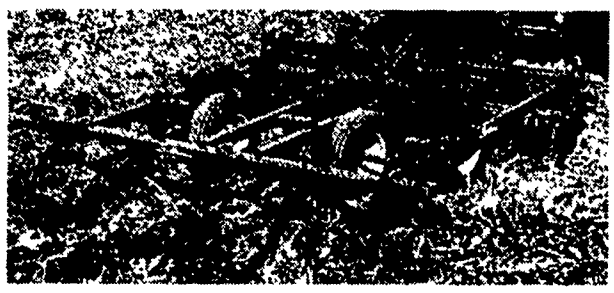
Brillion

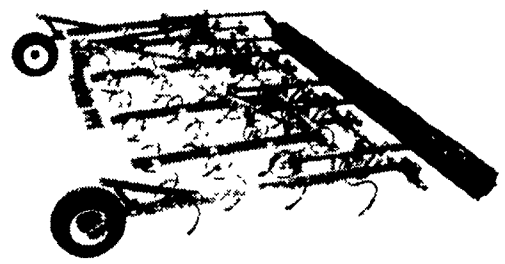
The "Quality Crafted" Line Better Seedbeds... Better Stands!

SOIL BUILDERS
5-7-9-11-13 Shanks



SOIL BUILDERS. Optional - Coulter gang can be hydraulically controlled to save maintenance dollars. Available in 2 & 3 bar.

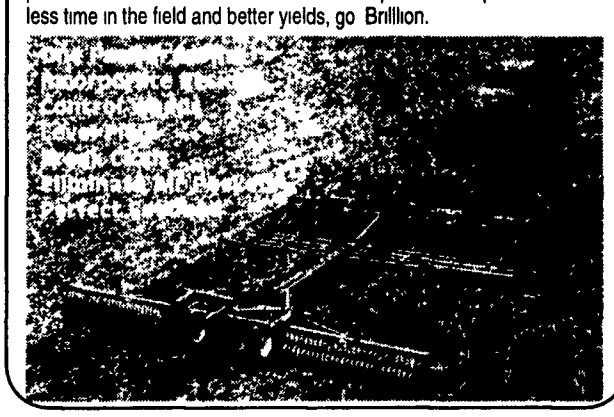
3 PT. BASKET HARROWS
12 Ft., 15 Ft., 18 Ft.



Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-Tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressively angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable coil tine leveler bar. Gauge wheels are optional.

BRILLION COMMANDER SYSTEM

Versatile tillage tools such as Billion's Soil Commander allows the use of Chisel Shanks or Deep-ripper Shanks to break up soil compaction. Front disk gangs and optional rear leveling disks cut residue, breaks clods, level the field and prepare the field to absorb moisture from melting snow and to reduce soil erosion. Brillion's Field Commander combined with a Brillion Pulverizer excels at creating the perfect seedbed for spring planting. C-Shanks or S-Tine Shanks leave a uniform mixture of soil and surface residue for the most effecient chemical incorporation The X-Fold Pulverizer (shown below) breaks up clods, firms the soil without compacting, eliminates air pockets in the soil and levels the soil for optimal seed placement. For less time in the field and better yields, go Brillion.



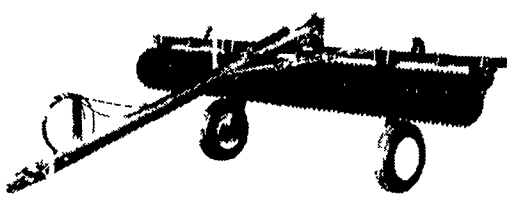
AG SURE STAND SEEDERS
5 Ft.-8 Ft.-10 Ft.-12 Ft.

For years Brillion Grass Seeders have proven to be the best machine for plantinggrasses and legumes... and now they're even better! Larger, heavier boxes, high seeding rates, nylon lined seed meter, heavier frame, new drive system and more. Available In 3-point or pull type. SSPT604, SS8, SS10, SS12

LANDCOMMANDERS
3-5-7-9-11-13 Shanks

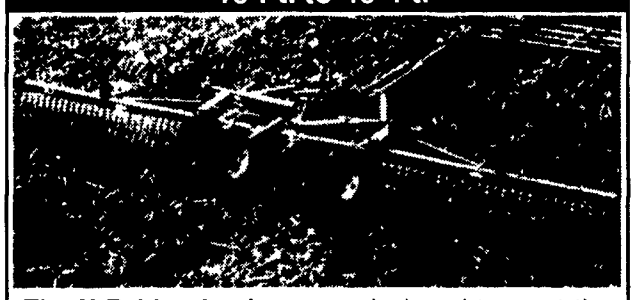
The front disc gang has 22" x 1/4" disc blades on 15" spacings. They are designed to cut residue and work the ground to a depth of 6". The Landcommander has the ability to till from 8" to 20" deep. The rear disc gang has 20" x 7 ga. disc blades on 7.5 spacing. The 6"x4" mainframe is designed to handle the stress from the deep till shanks and disc gangs.

P-SERIES TRANSPORT PULVERIZERS
10 Ft. to 20 Ft.



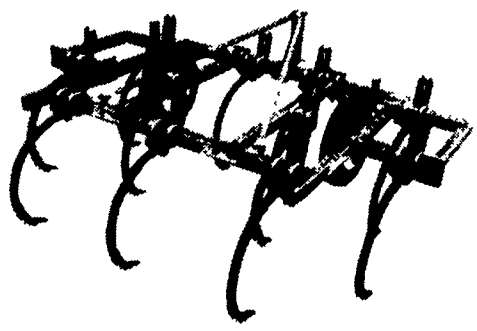
Rotary Frame Pulverizers; PT10 Series Transport Concept. Machine weight is hydraulically rotated over the wheels for transport. This reduces draw bar hitch weight considerably and provides ample clearance for transport. Also Available As Pull Type.

X-FOLD PULVERIZERS
19 Ft. to 46 Ft.



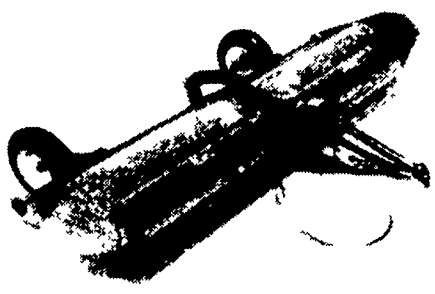
The X-Fold pulverizers are designed to meet the needs of today's larger acreage farmers...and Brillion offers them in two models and 11 sizes from 19' through 46'. Available with 20" Ductile Rollers.

2 or 3 BAR CHISEL PLOWS
5-7-9-11 or 10-12-14-16 Shanks



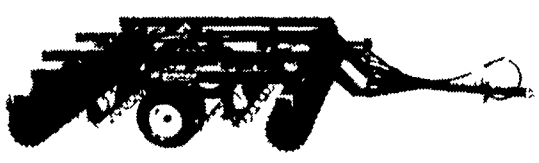
The CPP series of mounted models enables you to turn short and fast... to transport easily, utilizing your tractor's hydraulic system.

FLAIL SHREDDERS
12 Ft. and 15 Ft.



FLAIL SHREDDERS Heaviest gearbox on the market eliminates the number one cause of downtime. Available in 12' and 15'. Either cup or side slicer knives. 540 or 1000 RPM.

ML SERIES PULVI-MULCHERS
12'6", 13'10", 15'2", 18'9"



- Easy rolling 20" ductile iron notched or crowfoot roller wheels with 5 year limited warranty.
- Longer life external mounted bearings.
- Longer, heavier drawbar for shorter turns.

COMPACTION COMMANDERS
NO-TILL RIPPER/DEEP RIPPER - 3-5-7 Shanks

Brillion introduces their new Compaction Commander... designed to break up hard-pan and compac-tion as deep as 20".

The standard V-shaped alloy point and wear strip leaves residue on the surface with minimal soil disturbance. Auto-rest shanks with 20" of trip height allows for non-stop tillage. Parabolic shanks lift and fracture the soil. 39" of underframe clearance assures trouble free operation even in heavy residue.

Increase Precooling Efficiency

MADISON, Wis. — The Opti-Flo II from Bou-Matic, a company of DEC International, Inc., is designed to control a receiver's milk pump to deliver the optimum milk flow through a plate cooler.

By doing so, the Opti-Flo II helps achieve the maximum cooling the plate cooler is capable of delivering, without adding bulky equipment that can be expensive to install and maintain.

"Unlike milking systems that use standard 'on-off' milk pumps, Opti-Flo II delivers a steady, gentle, and constant flow of milk from the receiver to the plate cooler," said Bou-Matic Product Manager John Brzezinski. "This constant flow allows milk to spend more time in a plate cooler than what is possible when a typical 'on-off' milk pump delivers a series of short, high velocity bursts of milk."

The Opti-Flo II can be used in any size dairy and can be retrofitted into an existing receiver. "The Opti-Flo II can be easily adjusted to an optimum speed to match every parlor or pipe-line," noted Brzezinski.

An Opti-Flo II can increase the efficiency of any existing or new precooler.

NOTHING WORKS LIKE A SILO

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21ST CENTURY"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency; this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

Protect your valuable feeds from the elements... increase the efficiency of your feeds, your animals, and your labor.

With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration.

The ROTO-MIX end-to-end .. side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.

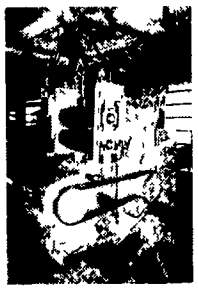
Kernel Processor Retrofit Kit

Put a kernel processor in your JD 3950 or 3970 Harvester.



Shown above right is a John Deere model 3970 with installation of the kit completed. Successful installations typically do not affect the horse power requirements on the tractor. Many farmers remove half of the chopper knives to result in a better milled product.

As shown above left, removing four bolts on each side of the insert, and removing the drive belts, allows the insert to be lifted out of the harvester to be replaced by the haylage chute. Note a new blower drive belt which is included with the kit.

FFA

ALEXANDRIA, Va. – DuPont Agricultural Enterprise recently awarded a gift of $250,000 toward the purchase of land and construction of the new National FFA Center in Indianapolis, Ind.

The National FFA Foundation has now raised $4.5 million, including $100,000 plus gifts from American Cyanamid Company - Agricultural Products Division, Case Corporation, DuPont Agricultural Enterprise, Dow AgroSciences, Eli Lilly and Company Foundation on behalf of Elanco Animal Health, Farmland Industries, IMC Global, John Deere, The Lilly Endowment, Novartis, Pioneer Hi-Bred International and Purina Mills.

"DuPont recognizes young people are the key to continued growth and effectiveness of American agriculture," said William F. Kirk, senior vice president, DuPont Agricultural Enterprise. "As a business, we are forced to look 5 to 10 years into the future to prepare business systems and people competencies to meet the needs of the marketplace. American agriculture also needs to be prepared with the right people in place with the knowledge and skills to meet the growing agricultural demands. Programs like FFA's capital campaign provide avenues for young people to become farmers, scientists, community leaders and employees to provide leadership in the industry."

James C. Borel, vice president and general manger, crop protection, added, "I appreciate the value of programs like the capitol campaign deliver to young people and I have seen first hand how their leadership directly benefits the productivity of American agriculture and American business. It is the responsibility of all of us in the industry to help provide a foundation for our leaders to grow from."

Charles Fischer, vice president of Dow AgroSciences in North America and 1998 Sponsors' Board chairman, explained, "Every dollar invested in the Capital Campaign does make a difference. Be assured that your gift as an individual chapter, company or foundation does help young people succeed. You will make a difference. You will change lives."

The total goal for the campaign, which takes its theme, "I Believe in the Future," from the FFA Creed, is $8 million. The funds will be used to provide for the land, building, move, technology and other elements needed to make the center a reality. The National FFA Foundation, Inc.'s, goal is $5 million from corporate, foundation and individual sponsors and FFA's goal is $3 million including the sale of the FFA's land in Virginia.

Individuals or companies interested in learning more about the "I Believe in the Future" campaign should contact the National FFA Foundation either by phone: (608) 829-3105 or fax: (608) 829-3195.

Kennard-Dale FFA Wins At Regionals

On Tuesday, April 7, a group of nine FFA members from the Kennard-Dale chapter readied themselves for a competition at the Regional FFA Parliamentary Procedure and Public Speaking Contest held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

The team would endure approximately 20 minutes of parliamentary procedure with FFA members from other competing teams trying to catch them in a mistake. The one speaker would receive a subject, prepare a five to seven minute speech in a half hour time frame, and present it to a judge with as many as eight other FFA members from the regions.

The Parliamentary Procedure Team was made up of nine students ranging from the ages of 14 to 17. Christina Cypriotis, Travis Moore, Kristina McElwain, Heather McElwain, Lacie Watkins, Brandon Webb, Joe Marslett, Susan Richardson, and alternate Julia Hayes
, prepared for this contest by practicing and winning the York County and Adams, Franklin, and York Area FFA competitions. Kristina McElwain, the extemporaneous speaker, also competed in these contests to receive an invitation to the regional contest.

Kristina McElwain won first place in the Extemporaneous speaking contest. The Kennard-Dale team placed first after vying with four other teams for the honor. All of these students will be attending the Pennsylvania State FFA Convention in June to compete for an opportunity to attend the National FFA competition held in Kansas City, Mo.

Elizabethtown FFA

On Wednesday, April 15, the Elizabethtown FFA had its 39th annual FFA Awards Banquet.

During this evening, members of the FFA were recognized for their outstanding achievements throughout the past year. Some freshmen earned their Greenhand degree, which is the first degree an FFA member can earn.

Two recipients earned the prestigious Star Greenhand degree for their extra efforts and dedication. Other members earned their Chapter degrees, the second degree a member strives for. One senior earned the Star Chapter Farmer and another earned the Star Chapter Agribusinessman for their outstanding efforts.

Two seniors earned their Keystone degrees, which is the highest degree at the state level. All degree recipients possessed the necessary qualifications for their specific degrees such as leadership abilities and progression of an agricultural career.

Awards were presented to the three highest salesman of this year's Holiday Sales. The Holiday Sale is the chapter's main fundraiser and items such as candles, fruit, and bologna are sold. Zach Germack has been the top salesman for the past three years.

Many members were honored for their participation on the state and national judging teams. Members of the Poultry Judging team competed at Springfield, Mass., last fall, winning first place overall. Members of the Dairy Food Team competed at Kansas City, Mo., earning gold honors. Also, proficiency awards were given to members who displayed talents in certain areas or who devoted a lot of time to one aspect of agriculture, such as wildlife, diversified animal production, and agricultural salesmanship.

The new assistant principal, Dr. Donald Donley, presented the Dekalb Achievement Award to a senior who plans on attending college for agriculture and who has had a good scholastic background.

Every year the Elizabethtown FFA presents the Blue and Gold Award to an individual or local organization which has helped the chapter in various ways. This year Masonic Homes was presented this award for their continued support since the early 1980s. One way they helped students was by offering non-farm agriculture students the opportunity to raise and show a dairy cow at the Elizabethtown Fair.

More recently, Masonic Homes has helped the chapter with the Regional Career Development Livestock Judging Competition which is held at the Elizabethtown Fairgrounds. The Homes provided the steers, lambs, and hogs, helped set up pens, and ran the contest for 125 eastern region FFA members. Frank Stoltzfus was present at the banquet to accept the award on behalf of Masonic Homes.

The program closed with retiring officer awards and senior speeches.

Local Youth Experiences International Agriculture

Philip Eby of Gap recently spent two weeks in Germany learning about agriculture on an international level. Eby was one of 61 participants from across the nation to participate in the 1998 International Leadership Seminar for State Officers (ILSSO) coordinated by the National FFA Organization.

The officers attended various agricultural events and tours in Germany. Some of the agricultural experiences that the students had were visiting an agricultural cooperative and a variety of farms and agribusinesses and many chances to try new food. After sightseeing in the area, the seminar continued on to nearby Grossenhain, where many students enjoyed the highlight of their program: a host family stay.

Each FFA member gained knowledge and understanding of German life and agriculture, and made lifelong friends while staying with their host families. Participants had the opportunity to see how German farm families live and work, and explored the similarities and differences to American agriculture. They visited a "Collective Farm" in the former East Germany as well as other research and university-related agricultural sites. A visit to nearby Buchenwald, a concentration camp during World War II, was also a memorable part of the tour.

The main focus of the ILSSO Seminar is the annual Greenweek Expo in Berlin, Germany. This world-class exposition draws more than 100,000 visitors per day, and features machinery, livestock, and agricultural products from around the world. Participants met and talked with young farmers from the European Community, met with the United States ambassador to Germany, and saw the sights of Berlin.

The International Leadership Seminar for State Officers is offered each year for current or past state FFA officers who have a strong background in leadership and agriculture, as well as an interest in expanding their knowledge of other cultures throughout the world. The 1999 ILSSO is tentatively scheduled for Jan. 5-19, 1999. If you are interested in participating in this seminar or any other agricultural world experience programs, please contact FFA International Programs at (703) 360-3600 or visit our homepage at http://www.ffa.org and then click on International Programs. Free international participant information packets or international hosting information packets are available on all international programs by calling toll-free (888) 332-7853.
